GIRL DIES IN AUTO LEAP, MAN IS HELD

Maid Fractures Her Skull in Jump From Moving Motor and Is Dead When Taken to the Hospital by Driver

Police Detain Male Companion for Investigation, When He Says Girl Was Picked Up in Road; Story Is Told

Mary (Billie) Newell, twenty-three, a cafe entertainer, is dead today as a result of an alleged leap from a speeding automobile at Twenty-fourth and Market streets early this morning.

The body of the girl, who lived at 825 Thirteenth street, was taken to the Emergency hospital by K. W. Hawthorne, traveling salesman, residing at 410 Waltham street.

Heathorne was taken to the police station for examination and after several hours grilling was released by order of the captain of inspectors, Richard McSorley.

This accident was almost parallel with one which occurred early Sunday morning at Thirteenth street and Broadway, in which another girl, Mary Perria, also residing at 825 Thirteenth street, jumped from a machine. She was knocked unconscious and taken to the hospital, where it was found that she was unhurt.

Miss Perria was a friend of Billie Newell, and both had the same first name, lived at the same rooming house and, it is alleged, both jumped from automobiles.

GIRL IS DEAD.
Heathorne and two marines, E. J. Clifton and Jack Taylor, took Miss Newell to the Emergency hospital last night shortly before midnight. She was pronounced dead from a fractured skull. The police were notified, and Heathorne told detectives that he had found the unconscious body of the young woman at Thirteenth and Market streets. He said that he saw the form as he was driving past and picked her up and brought her to the hospital. He duplicated any knowledge of the girl.

Police inspectors Joseph Enright and William Haldeman, dissatisfied with the story, placed the salesman under arrest and took him to the city prison, where he was booked for investigation.

This action, according to police, was followed by a complete confession by Heathorne, who, in a statement which he made in the presence of the two detectives, gave a detailed account of the circumstances which led up to the death of the young woman. Heathorne's statement declared that the girl threw herself from the machine.

An investigation by the detectives showed the girl's death occurred at a point about 100 feet south of the intersection at Twenty-fourth and Market streets.

Heathorne and the two marines, carrying the body of the dead girl, appeared at the Emergency hospital before midnight last night.

THREE START ON AUTO RIDE.
The salesman in his statement declared that last night he met the girl, who was called "Billie," at 419 Nineteenth street, with a man known as Tom Fay, and the two marines, who accompanied him to the hospital. Fay, Heathorne declared, suggested that they take a ride in the latter's machine, which they did. The salesman said that "Billie," himself and Fay went on the ride.

From Tom's place they went to 377 Twenty-third street and stopped there for a short while, Heathorne said to the detective. "At this place 'Billie' met a man named Dean. There was some crying on the part of the girl. After leaving there, 'Tom,' 'Billie' and myself went back to Tom's place. We left Tom and said that I was going to take Billie home and would return in a little while.

I started for the place where 'Billie' said she lived, but she insisted that we go back to 377 Twenty-third street so that she could see Dean. I took her back and went

COUNTY DIVISION SCHEME IS CHIEF ISSUE AT POLLS

Outlying Districts Tomorrow Will Vote on Separation Question Alone; Two Proposals Here

SENTIMENT AGAINST SPLIT GROWS

Alameda county tomorrow faces an election in which its geographical limits are an issue.

In Oakland there will be two proposals on the ballot. That of county division and that of acceptance of the charter.

Outlying districts will vote on the separation question alone, but a vote in the outlying districts, this time, counts just as much as one in Oakland for a majority of the ballots cast in the entire county will decide the issue. Those who are opposed to county division and the charter will vote "No." The polls will be open at 6 o'clock in the morning and will close at 7 in the evening.

A continuation of the flood of expressions from citizens who wish to be placed on record as opposing the setting up of Alameda county was one of the features of the day before election. Expressions came from all over the county in all walks of life, and the sentiment against the scheme to prevent Oakland's expansion.

GOVERNOR SUE
ON GIRL CHARGE
Publication of the letter of William Dolge & Company, certified public accountants, certifying to the fact that with county division Oakland would have a tax rate of 45.45 instead of the present rate of 43.91, is one of the many developments which have aided in the decided change in opinion in business Oakland. It had been hoped until the last minute that the Oakland Charter League would accept the challenge of the Alameda County Anti-Division League for an unbiased and expert investigation of figures submitted by each side.

It is generally admitted that this attitude of the Charter League in ignoring an open challenge which could only result in presenting the facts, lost the charter and division projects more votes than any other one thing.

VALUE OF LARGE DELEGATION SHOWN.
The Daily Californian in Berkeley, California, calls attention editorially to the fact that a separate county of Berkeley would go before the state legislature with a small delegation, and reminds the students and university circles of the value of the large Alameda county delegation in the past.

The Alameda County Anti-Division League today predicted that the county division scheme would be defeated by a large vote in the outlying districts. "The only question," says the League statement, "is one of the size of the majority." The statement added:

"In Alameda the vote will be 5000 against division. In the up-country, 3500 majority will be cast against Oakland and Berkeley will be beaten by 5000, and in Berkeley it will be beaten by 2000.

"Fremont and Emeryville did not have the chance to express their opposition to the charter at the last election, but the votes of these cities will be counted in with the Oakland vote on the charter proposal this time."

To these votes are added the 6000 disenfranchised in the November election, the men and women of the unincorporated territory whose vote counts this time the same as those of any other.

Giving omissions in the figures of the Taxpayers' Association, upon which dependence is placed by the Oakland Charter League for its varied predictions of alleged savings, are pointed out today in another column of the TRIBUNE.

In Berkeley the sentiment against division is today more pronounced than ever. From that city comes a long list of citizens who are anxious that they be placed on record in opposition to the scheme. "This list and expressions from the Californian and the Berkeley Courier are to be found in another column.

New Clew in the Baffling Case Leads to Order Dope Dens in Hollywood Be Searched for Intimates of Director

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—William Desmond Taylor, moving picture director, who was murdered in Los Angeles, has a 26-year-old son, Reut a Davis Taylor, born in Texas, according to Carl L. Gregory, moving picture producer at New Rochelle, who met Taylor soon after Taylor's entry into the movie field at Los Angeles.

The son is by another woman than the wife Taylor deserted here, Gregory said, when he went west to start life anew under another name.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—A squad of detectives hastened to Hollywood motion picture studio this afternoon to question a prominent director who, it was declared, endeavored two weeks ago to obtain from William Desmond Taylor for letters and telegrams written to Taylor by Mabel Normand, film star. The director was reported to have visited the Taylor home within an hour after the body of the slain director was found by his negro servant.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—"Comb the dope dens in Hollywood!" This terse order was issued today by Detective Captain David D. Adams, following a conference at police headquarters of all agencies working on the William D. Taylor murder mystery.

Although Adams would make no statement to the press, it was understood that a new clew had been received connecting the supposed slayer of the famed motion picture director with the operations of a well-organized Hollywood "snob-ball" ring.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—In overcast weather, with cap pulled down over his forehead, George Milo, picture actor, strode up and down the sidewalk late last night in front of Westlake Terrace Courts, the home of William D. Taylor, murdered film director.

He was enacting, against his will, a role he had often played for profit in the films—that of a "sentinel" being.

Eyes unseen by him looked out from shuttered windows in a bungalow across the court from Taylor's. Mrs. Douglas MacLean, wife of the movie star, was trying to identify Milo as the man she saw leaving the bungalow where Taylor was murdered.

Meanwhile, in a closed automobile parked a short distance away, deputy sheriffs were firing questions at Henri Reineque, actor and friend of Milo.

The questions concerned the whereabouts of the two last Wednesday night.

Neither Milo nor Reineque have yet been formally arrested or charged with the murder.

MABEL NORMAND'S NAME BANDIED ABOUT.
The name of Mabel Normand, vivacious comedienne of the films, again was bandied back and forth by the deputies in their quest for a clew to the mysterious slaying.

The dark-haired picture star was the center of interest at the grilling of Milo.

Milo and Reineque were taken into custody late last night as they exited from Milo's machine in front of the Lobbey apartments in West Eighth street, where both live.

At Manning, in charge of criminal investigations at the sheriff's office, drove to the Lobbey with Deputy Sheriff Harvey Bell.

They traced Milo's automobile after a mysterious telephone message had been received at the sheriff's office to the effect that a sedan of certain make stood in front of Taylor's home on the night of the shooting.

The number and description given by the anonymous informant was that of Milo's machine.

MAKE NO PROTEST WHEN ARRESTED.
"The boss wants to see you," said Manning, accosting the pair when they were taken into custody. "Who's the boss?"

The two actors made no protest as they were escorted to the sheriff's automobile and taken to the office. Here they were separated and both subjected to a severe grilling on the question of their whereabouts Wednesday night.

THREE MINUTE TALES

THE FLARE OF CURIOSITY

by AD SCHUSTER

ED WYLIE looked out of his bedroom window onto the bay and at the strangely flashing lights of a small boat moving slowly toward the north.

"I've got to find out what it means," he said as he watched the beam from a small searchlight lift to the heavens and fall time and again. "That fellow is signalling. He does it every trip and I won't be happy until I know why."

When Ed Wylie's curiosity is aroused he devotes his entire time and attention to its satisfaction. Within the week he had learned the name of the boat, the fact that she made three trips a week up the bay to a river port, and that her captain was Bushy Jones, as he had a looking skipper as the crew could boast. The Clifton G. carried passengers. Ed bought a ticket.

Standing on the deck that night, Ed waited for the signals, his mind filled with stories of bootlegging, of small boats that put in from large ones, and of mysterious boxes floating where passing vessels could pick them up. He held his counsel and waited.

At the usual place the lights began to dance and Ed noticed that the skipper was up in the pilot house.

"What is the meaning of all this wiggling?" Ed asked a deckhand, trying to put a casual note in the question.

"What's it to you?" the man growled and walked away.

DESPITE all the signalling nothing of importance followed. The Clifton G. did not pause in its steady journeying, the lights stopped flashing, and the captain returned to the deck. Ed looked at the man and noted, as the sole result of his investigation, that Bushy Jones could smile.

On the return trip the lights danced again. Ed resolved to put the thing straight to Jones. A bit later, he approached the captain.

"Captain Jones," he said, "I have noticed your signals. Would you mind telling me what they mean?"

The big captain, fighting man of the waterfront, for one moment looked sheepish. Then he swore and shoved the younger man away. "Well, a lot of other fellows like to know, too," he said. "You make yourself scarce before I throw you over." And Ed made himself scarce.

It was not so difficult to discover the meaning of the signals, but it was not easy to find out why they would end right here. But Ed persisted. Every time the Clifton G. made ready to steam up the bay Ed was on the deck endeavoring to get a word with the captain. And finally he had the chance to lead a hand, and once he took a letter the captain had forgotten to mail. Slowly he was becoming acquainted.

ONE night Bushy Jones growled: "If you wanta take the trip, hop aboard. I won't cost you nothing," and Ed felt that he was to have his reward.

In the pilot house Ed went with Captain Jones as the time came for the lights to throw their signs into the sky. He stood silent while Bushy Jones turned to the searchlight's rays up and down, and noticed that the man put concentration and system into the task.

When he had finished the big man turned with his rare smile to the younger one and asked: "Did you see those lights way up on the hill?" He pointed to the windows of a building on an eminence in the distance. "The light on the hill?" he asked. "Do you see that?"

Ed nodded.

"That," said the captain softly, "is the state home for the deaf," and he wrote a sentence on a slip of paper, handing it over to Ed.

"Good-night, girlie," the note said. "Daddy loves you."

ARMS PARLEY CLOSES WITH PACT SIGNING

Washington Conference Ends in a Brilliant Spectacle; Harding in Farewell Address Lauds Envoy's Work

First Effective Expression of War's Utter Futility, He Declares; Crowds Applaud the Envoy's Enthusiastically

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—The history-making conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions came to its end today with the signing of treaties and a farewell address by President Harding.

With its work characterized by Harding as "the first deliberate and effective expression of great powers, in the consciousness of peace, of war's utter futility," the great conference went to its niche of history to await the judgments and developments of the future.

TO LIFT THE BURDEN FROM WAR TORN WORLD.
In the great assembly hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution, where all its open sessions have been held, the delegates of the nine nations assembled marched in turn to a space at the great green table and affixed their signatures to the treaties and agreements which are all parts of the structure built to lift from a war torn world the burden of excessive naval armaments; to protect the peace of the Pacific, to give a new bill of rights to China and to remove from the Far East the clouds of war.

HOPES OF THE WORLD EXPRESSED IN APPLAUSE.
And as each delegation affixed the signatures of its plenipotentiaries, pledging the honor of their respective nations to the good faith of the settlements agreed upon, the great audience expressed the hopes of the world with its loud and prolonged applause.

At the conclusion of the ceremony of signing President Harding, who delivered his address formally closing the conference as he formally had opened it a little more than twelve weeks ago.

The president, as he read slowly from his manuscript, declared that he halted by bursts of applause. He finished speaking at 11:10 and then delegates and spectators bowed their heads as a benediction was pronounced.

There was long applause when President Harding addressed to say: "While the settlement of the Far Eastern question was not of direct import to the United States, we rejoice in common with the world that understanding has been reached."

"THE CONVENTION IS ADJOURNED SINE DIE."
As the president named the American delegates and thanked them for their services to the nation, there was applause at the mention of each name. There was more applause when the president thanked the advisory committee of his services.

At the conclusion of the president's address the entire party stood and applauded as the executive took his seat.

As the applause died away the Rev. Abernathy stepped forward and pronounced the benediction.

"May it be in the hearts of every nation and every man," he beseeched, "to hasten the bringing of the era of good will."

The prayer ended. Secretary Hughes stepped with his cavalier and announced: "The conference is adjourned sine die."

The final session brought out the largest crowd of the conference. Scores sat in the aisles and stood around the walls. Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Clegg and wives of other officials had seats in the boxes.

FOUR SINGLED OUT FOR TRIBUTE BY CROWD.
As the prominent delegates arrived the spectators applauded. Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, got particular attention.

Many of the delegates were busy signing autograph albums.

The session was called to order at 10:02 o'clock with a prayer by the Rev. William S. Abernathy, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, which President Harding attended.

And applause Secretary Hughes announced that the Shantung treaty between Japan and China had been signed Saturday.

"THE TREATIES WILL NOW BE SIGNED," HUGHES.
The treaties will now be signed," announced Secretary Hughes and the American delegation filed around to the foot of the big green table of the secretary general's desk inside the enclosure and began signing. Secretary Hughes completed his signature at 10:12 o'clock.

The signing was in this order: The United States, Belgium, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands, China and Portugal.

The signing of the last of the documents was completed by the American delegates at 10:16 a. m.

New Pope Here is picture of Cardinal Ratti, Italian prelate, archbishop of Milan and one of newest cardinals, selected as supreme pontiff of the Holy Roman Catholic Church.

PRELATE TO TAKE NAME OF PIUS XI

One of Newest Cardinals in Sacred College Selected to Head Holy See; American Cardinal Does Not Ballot

Prelate of Milan Elevated by Late Pontiff Is Given White Hat By Vote of College; Favors Italy Reconciliation

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Cardinal Ratti was elected pope by receiving 38 votes in the conclave of the Sacred College, says a Central News dispatch from Rome this afternoon.

By HENRY WOOD.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

ROME, Feb. 6.—Cardinal Ratti was today elected pope on the seventh ballot of the Sacred College. He will assume the name of Pope Pius XI.

The smoke signal from the Vatican this morning was white, and shortly afterwards it was announced that Achilleo Cardinal Ratti, an Italian, had been elected to succeed Benedict XV.

Cardinal Ratti becomes the 261st pope since the time of St. Peter. As Pope Pius XI he is expected to continue the policy of reconciliation with the Italian government, for he was a member of the Gasparri party, which stood for a rapprochement between the Quirinal and the Vatican.

CREATED CARDINAL IN JUNE LAST YEAR.
Ratti was born in Milan in 1857. He was successively prefect of the Ambrosian Library and of the Vatican Library in 1911.

Ratti was created Bishop of Imbrato in 1919. He was consecrated at Warsaw. On April 1, 1921, he was made Bishop of Adana.

According to the papal directory Ratti's position previous to the death of Pope Benedict was representative of the Vatican in Poland, residing in Warsaw. Ratti was one of the new cardinals created by Benedict.

Cardinal Ratti is in his 65th year. Although he is an Italian, he is better known in Poland.

WAITING CROWDS HOLD OF ELECTION.
When the scrutiny of the ballots within the secret conclave in the Vatican chapel this morning showed that the necessary majority of two-thirds had been received by Cardinal Ratti, the secretary of the conclave, the Italian ambassador and other cardinals of the Vatican were admitted to the chapel.

The cardinal deacon, accompanied by the heads of the other orders of cardinals, presented themselves to Ratti and asked if he accepted the election. Receiving an affirmative reply, the white smoke signal, to tell the waiting throng outside the Vatican of the election, was released, and the canopies of all the other cardinals seated about the chapel fell to the floor. Only the canopy remained upright.

SUBJECTS NAME OF PIUS XI.
Ratti's election was not a surprise, although he was one of the newest cardinals, being created in June, 1921, by the late Pope Benedict.

The newly-elected cardinal was the oldest of the new cardinals, and would take as pope and he replied: "Pius XI."

He gave his reasons for the selection and the priest who was attached to Cardinal Ratti was admitted to the conclave.

The secretary of the conclave and the priest then proceeded with the robing of the newly-elected pope. One of the sacred vestments which had been prepared for the ceremony was put upon Ratti, and the secretary of the conclave knelt and handed to him the white cap which designated him as supreme pontiff.

FIRST HOMAGE HE PAID NEW PONTIFF.
Thus attired, the new pope returned to the chapel and ascended the temporary throne, which had been prepared, overlooking the seats of the cardinals. The first homage was paid to the new pope by the cardinals in order.

Cardinal Gasparri, who, as cardinal camerlengo, had retained temporary papal authority, was then required to approach the throne and give to the new pope the ring of St. Peter, which will later be turned over to the prelate of ceremonies to have Ratti's name inscribed upon it.

The cardinals then returned to their seats to await the formal announcement to the public of the election.

The head of cardinal deacons appeared before the eager throng outside the Vatican, which was crowded with thousands of people, and announced to the throngs swarming in the Piazza di San Pietro the fact that a new pope had been elected. He gave Ratti's name as when the new pope was cardinal.

WILL SUBJECT DATE OF CORONATION.
Following this announcement there was further ceremony to be gone through in the Sixtine chapel, and later, according to custom, in one of the chapels of St. Peter's.

The newly-elected pope appears upon the Vatican balcony and bestowed his benediction upon the

Tribune Will Signal Election Result From City Hall Roof

THE results of Tuesday's election will be signalled by The TRIBUNE with report and colored shells from the roof of the Oakland city hall.

As soon as it is apparent that the announcement is forthcoming, three report bombs will be fired. This will be the signal for the Eastbay that the count is in.

It is not at present possible to make a definite statement as to the exact time when the election results will be announced. It is hoped it will be possible, however, to make a definite announcement as to the results about one hour after the closing of the polls.

Red shells will mean that the county division plan has failed. Green shells will mean that the division plan has carried. The colored shells announcing the result will follow the firing of the report bombs. Red shells will mean Alameda county remains intact and green ones that it is to be divided into three parts.

GIRL KIDNAPED BY ACTORS, TAKEN TO L. A. CANYON

Young Woman Found Hysterical With Clothing in Shreds.

By WALLACE SMITH, International News Service Special Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1932, by International News Service.)
(Copyright, 1932, by Chicago Evening-American.)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Revolted scandal awakened the wilder youth of the film world again today as detectives hunting desperately for some clue to the slaying of William Desmond Taylor began a search for a young woman named "Dorothy" and a party of drug-mad men who kidnaped her early today at the mouth of Horseshoe canyon.
The girl, hysterical and half-stripped of her clothing, and those charged with abducting her, disappeared somewhere in the maze of private studios and "party" back-logs of Hollywood, according to the sheriff's men who first took up the chase.
It was while deputies of the sheriff's office were quizzing three suspects in the Taylor slaying—a three men linked with the bands trafficking in drugs—that the call came from Hollywood. Dwellers near the mouth of the canyon had found a sobbing, drug-broken girl stumbling down the trail. Her clothes had been shredded and she was half-naked. Automobile blankets were thrown around her and an effort was made to quiet her.
"They did this to me up in the canyon," she cried. "They gave me things to drink and they tore my clothes off."
One of those who found the girl hurried to a telephone and called the sheriff. A squad of officers rushed to the spot by motor. Before they arrived another machine drove up. Out of it piled at least three men, according to witnesses.
Two of the men were recognized as actors of considerable prominence, they were declared by some of the canyon cabins a rendezvous for week-end debaucheries of the wildest description.
The girl shrieked as they approached, reeling and cursing.
"Let that girl go," said one of them. "Don't you see she's hysterical. We'll take care of her."
Then the three made a rush. Before the Horseshoe canyon dwellers could stop them the automobile had made off, with the young woman still screaming. The deputies waited a few minutes later and leaving behind one of their number to investigate, took up the trail of the fleeing automobile. They made ready today to question the men said to have been recognized by those who sought to shelter the young woman. One of the witnesses remembered that the girl gave her name as "Dorothy."

Neva Gerber Tells Of Taylor's Checks

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Barling in detail her acquaintance with William D. Taylor for the past seven years, Miss Neva Gerber yesterday afternoon graphically told of the fits of utter dependency that grasped the dead man at times and of his many mysterious disappearances for two and three weeks at a time, continuing over a period of several years.
She admitted she had received thousands of dollars in checks from the dead director.
"The Taylor would sink to such depths of despair," said Miss Gerber, "that his whole body seemed racked as if in physical torture. He would walk the floor and his hands, exclaiming, 'Stiff as I am, I'll keep up this battle of existence.' With all of these odds against me, he is the struggle worth while."
"And when I would ask him what he meant by these strange words he would say: 'O, my health is so bad, I have no stomach left, I can't eat anything.' But there were other times when he would say: 'I have had bad news from home, but he never told me just what the news was.'"
"There would be times just after he had finished directing a picture when he would say he was so nervous he would have to go away."

Taylor's Daughter Sees Father in Film

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Ethel Daisy Deane Tanner, 15-year-old daughter of William Desmond Taylor, slain motion picture director, first learned his identity when his image was flashed on the screen of a New York playhouse, and her mother, who was with her, exclaimed:
"That is your father."
This has been revealed in investigations by the New York authorities who are delving into Taylor's past in the hope of turning up evidence bearing on his death.
Miss Deane Tanner, who is a student at the New York school of applied design, recognizing the resemblance between the shadow picture and photographs in the possession of her mother, now Mrs. E. L. C. Robinson, of Mamaroneck, wrote to Taylor in care of the motion picture company, thus beginning a correspondence that continued up to the time of the tragedy.
Some time after the correspondence began, Taylor came east and called on her. She says he promised to bequeath her his property.

wanted me too. But if that's it, why—it's too ridiculous to do anything except laugh."
The officers were not satisfied with this denial. They bundled Milo into an automobile. He was taken to the South Alvarado street bungalow court, where he was dressed as the murderer was supposed to have been, and made to promenade in front of the place.
Meanwhile Reineque was being subjected to an equally severe fire of questions.
"Where were you Wednesday night, barked all his questioners in chorus.
"For heaven's chance give a man time to think!" replied Reineque, scratching his head.
He is from Alsace-Lorraine and speaks with a slight accent.
"Don't you know that George Milo was intimate with Mabel Normand?" demanded his interrogators.
DENIES KNOWLEDGE CONCERNING NORMAND.
"I don't know anything of the kind," replied the actor.
Mrs. MacLean, after watching Milo's performance, informed deputy sheriffs that she could not positively identify the suspect as the man she saw walk away from Taylor's home on the night of the tragedy.
Milo and Reineque were both driven home shortly after midnight and released upon warning not to attempt to leave the city.
They were officially informed that they were under surveillance.
The sheriff's office announced that it had not abandoned the theory, to which color was given by the mysterious telephone call. The Milo may have been a disgruntled suitor of Miss Normand, who killed the prominent picture director from jealousy.
Police Captain Adams and Detective Clive Cahill and Cato were with the deputies and assisted at the investigation last night.
SUSPECT FORMER VAUDEVILLE PERFORMER.
Milo, interviewed today by the United Press, was still somewhat staggered by his experience of last night.
"I was able to summon a smile, however, at what he characterized 'this ridiculous charge that I killed Taylor.'"
Milo is a handsome chap, of the "screen idol" type. He is French by birth, but has spent most of his life in America.
Besides being an actor he is an athlete of prowess. He formerly toured in vaudeville in an acrobatic turn in which he was "understander," and also posed in a leopard skin to show his unusual muscular development.
His screen history in Los Angeles connects him with several women stars, with whom he has worked in various pictures.
These include Pauline Frederick, Theda Bara, Clara Kimball Young and Ruth Roland.
Milo reiterated the statement made to officers that he only knew Mabel Normand through working with her in one picture.
SCENE ESCAPES TO MEXICO, LATEST.
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—(Associated Press).—The little green-eyed monster, jealousy, police and private detectives say, has directed a prominent young New York man, formerly engaged to one of the beautiful stars of filmdom, in connection with the mystery murder last Wednesday night of William Desmond Taylor, noted motion picture director, here known in New York prior to 1928 as William Cunningham Deane-Turner, art connoisseur.
This mystery suspect was reported today to have checked out of a hotel here the day after the murder was committed, and left the city the following afternoon. He is believed by investigators to have headed for the border into Mexico. His name is withheld by the police.
The actress to whom this suspect was at one time engaged, according to investigators, was a close friend of the slain director, and in this friendship, investigators say, they see a possible motive of jealousy which would lead to the murder.
PINK NIGHTGOWN IN TAYLOR APARTMENT.
For sustained interest and thrilling denouement, after the police have made every effort to project further and further above any movie mystery which the genius of the director ever developed for the theatergoer. Letters written by Mabel Normand to Taylor, reported missing following the murder, and evidence concerning presence for six months at least of a woman's silk pink nightgown in the luxuriously appointed bachelor apartment, today add considerable interest to the case.
Investigators were reluctant to discuss the woman's nightgown, and a bit of mystery attaches to it, for Henry Peavy, the negro houseman of Taylor, told of it having been in the house until the night of the murder. There it is now in a police mystery. They will not discuss it, but reports are that it disappeared with the letters.

Taylor Attended 'Dope' Parties to Get 'Atmosphere'

(By International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Out of a maze of clues, gleaned from the stray ends of the tangled skein of William Desmond Taylor's life, detectives are today centering their investigation of the film director's murder on information that centers around a series of "dope" parties attended by Taylor.
One man who is being sought by police is a known "dope" peddler who is said to have moved in certain sections of the local motion picture colony. Detectives state that Taylor himself was addicted to the use of narcotics, but it is known that several of his friends in motion picture work, including one or two picture actors, are addicts. It is said that Taylor shortly before his death had attended several "dope" parties for the purpose of obtaining atmosphere. Police are giving attention to this underworld phase of their investigation in hopes that a tangible clue to the mystery might be found there.

Pink Nightie and Letters Stolen From Taylor Home

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Search continues for a number of letters written to William Desmond Taylor by Mabel Normand that have been missing since Taylor was murdered. A number of articles are said to have been taken from the slain director's home shortly after the body was found, despite the fact that a guard was placed about it a few hours afterwards. Among these, it is said, were Miss Normand's letters.
However, it was announced today that small consequence is attached to the Mabel Normand letters following a questioning of the noted actress in which she stated that while she was unable to explain the disappearance of her letters she felt little concern about them. She stated to newspapermen that she sought the missives only because she feared that terms of endearment in them might be misconstrued.
Miss Normand said that in just at a dinner party one night Taylor christened her "Dressed Baby." She in turn had named him "Baby." These terms, she stated had been used by her in her letters to the director.

Will of Recluse Scratched on Log In Cabin Sought

PETALUMA, Feb. 6.—Search has been renewed at Novato for the will of John L. Sullivan, a recluse, who a short time before his death, is said to have told a neighbor that he had scratched his will on the wall of his redwood cabin. The renewal of the search was the outgrowth of a decision rendered by Superior Judge Edward J. Buder of Marin county, that the $7500 estate would not be divided until the will was found or positive proof was made showing that certain persons were relatives of the deceased.
Sullivan was widower and a resident of Novato district for twelve years. His estate is mostly cash in bank.

Oakland Man Was Taylor's Tentmate

Wm. Desmond Taylor, murdered Los Angeles motion picture director, joined the Camp of the British expeditionary forces in Windsor, Nova Scotia, on August 2, 1918, and while well liked, made few friends there, according to Ellis G. Tott, train-master of the San Francisco, Oakland Terminal Railways, who was a sergeant-major at the camp.
"Taylor was like a fish out of the water when he came to the camp," Tott said. "He was dressed in the height of fashion," and his refinement and culture were somewhat out of place in such rough surroundings. The tents were so overcrowded that I took him into my own. He was very thankful for that favor.
"Taylor was in the hospital when I left the camp September 7, 1918. Later I heard that he had attended an officers' training camp in England and had become an officer."

MABEL NORMAND IDOL OF TAYLOR, SERVANT AVERS

Daily Letters and Flowers Sent Comedienne; She Was Occasional Visitor.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—"Mr. Taylor loved Miss Normand very much, but I do not believe that she returned his love to any great extent."
That is what Henry Peavy, Taylor's colored house servant, said last night when questioned by reporters.
"I was in Mr. Taylor's house for almost six months," declared Peavy, "and I know that he was very much in love with Miss Normand. At times I thought that she returned his love and then again it seemed to me that she was tired of him."
"One night almost a month before Mr. Taylor was killed, Miss Normand came to the house for dinner. After dinner she went into the front room with Mr. Taylor, and they were talking and I passed through the room and she stopped me. She told me then that she and Mr. Taylor were to be married. He was sitting there and didn't say a word. She wanted to know, and I would work for them and I told her that I was afraid I would be unable to please her. She stated that I was pleasing Mr. Taylor and that therefore would please her."
INFREQUENT VISITOR.
"Miss Normand never came to the house very often. During the time I worked there she was only in Mr. Taylor's home about a dozen times. She was there the night before the murder, and again the night that Mr. Taylor was killed. I know that she was with Mr. Taylor on the Tuesday night before the Wednesday that he was killed, because she told me so. Wednesday night, when she came in, Mr. Taylor asked her to have some pudding. She said, 'while I was in the room, that she did not care for any pudding that night, but had enjoyed the pudding that she had the night before. Then I learned for the first time what had happened to some pudding that I had left in the ice box on Tuesday night. That was gone Wednesday morning when I arrived at the Taylor home.'"
WROTE LETTERS DAILY.
"In my job as houseman I was in a position to know quite a bit about Taylor's business. He wrote a letter to Miss Normand almost every day of the week. His driver would take the notes to Miss Normand's home by automobile after breakfast mornings. A week never went by that he did not write to her at least three times.
"Taylor always sent Miss Normand flowers at least three times a week. He purchased the flowers from a wholesale place on Los Angeles street, between Second and Third streets. Once I paid for some of them; the single bunch cost $25. He would have the flowers sent from the wholesale house direct."
"While Miss Normand was in New York finishing her last picture Taylor sent her a telegram every evening of his life. He would give them to me and I sent them on my way home. I always gave them to the same girl in the Western Union office. She is still working there. Miss Normand answered his telegrams and almost every morning just after I arrived at the Taylor home the boy would come with Miss Normand's telegram. Taylor saved them all, but I don't know where he kept them."

upstairs for Dean. Dean came down and drove with us for a couple of blocks. Then I brought him back. I left again, intending to take Blime home."
According to Heathorne, after they left this time, the young woman insisted for a third time that she be taken back to the Twenty-third street address. The salesman said that he refused and that he told the girl that he would drive around for a while so that she "could" see him. Miss Newell was intoxicated, Heathorne claimed in his statement.

JUMPS FROM MACHINE, IS CLAMM

"We went down to Thirteenth street, crossed to Market and up Market," Heathorne continued. "At about Twenty-fourth street he insisted that I turn off and go back. I again refused and continued up Market street."
Then according to Heathorne, Miss Newell opened the door of the machine and threw herself out, crying, "I want to go back and see Dean." Heathorne said that he had no idea what she was doing until he saw her about 50 feet from the machine. He turned and tried to catch her, he said, but it was too late.

Governor in Letter to Rail Board Says Changes Should Be Made to Aid Public.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Governor W. D. Stephens has made public a letter addressed to the State Railroad Commission urging that body to revise some recent rulings on rates and service extensions of public service corporations.

The governor made it plain that he had no authority, but merely as a spokesman for those who had appealed to him; and urged the necessity for "using all the great power reposed in the commission to end that better and more adequate telephone and gas service be given at once to a long-suffering consuming public, exasperated by lack of service, but none the less patient and fair-minded."

The text of the governor's letter follows:

State Railroad Commission,
San Francisco, Cal.

Gentlemen: Great dissatisfaction exists throughout Southern California as a result of the increased rates allowed by your commission to the Southern California Telephone Company and the Pacific Electric Railway Company. Added to this is the consumers' continually recurring experience of marked inadequacy in the telephone and gas service.

As soon as these decisions were announced I began to receive vigorous protests against them. I have just spent ten days in Los Angeles, in part to go into this matter, and I am impressed with the profound public resentment against the increased rates for service and the kind of service afforded to the people.

I feel free to call these matters to your attention, because you are an independent branch of our state government, over whose decisions and terms of office I have no control, and because these rates increase, affecting hundreds of thousands of people, coming at a time when the public expected rates to fall with the general decline in prices, have resulted in a state of public bewilderment, which I fear may lead to public distrust of regulation.

I am deeply concerned over the future of regulation of public utilities in this state and I feel that you gentlemen upon whose course so largely depends the future of regulation, should examine and re-examine and then examine again the allegations, the facts, and your decisions, to be sure that you are right and to satisfy the public. And then, being absolutely certain you are right, to see to it that the people understand thoroughly and clearly the grounds for your action.

The success of our form of government depends upon the public understanding of, and public confidence in, the acts of public servants.

I am sure that each of you know that I have the utmost confidence in your honesty, ability and high purpose. I am confident that upon the evidence presented you formed the conclusions which you believed to be fair and just, and while I have not the opportunity of examining the voluminous evidence submitted to the commission, I cannot ignore what seems to be a continuation of an overwhelming number of our citizens that some other solution might have been possible in the cases referred to.

FULL CONSIDERATION.

For example, the rate paid by the rate payers who number many thousands, that "it is not just to burden the lucrative lines with high rates in order to make up a fair return upon lines barely paying operating costs" and "that property of a non-paying line should not be given its full present value when fixing rates for a profitably operated line." These and other contentions are being urged so seriously as to deserve the most careful and fullest consideration.

And may I not properly direct your attention to the statements made by officials of the Pacific Electric and other great public utility corporations at the hearings before the legislature on the King tax bill, wherein said officials attempted to show that the physical values of their properties had not only not increased but had in fact greatly decreased.

KING BILL.

Enemies of public regulation have endeavored to justify the increases above referred to by the claim that the King tax bill placed additional tax burdens upon public service corporations; but that contention is erroneously, perhaps maliciously, made, as regards the increases in electric utility rates, for the King tax bill did not raise the tax rates of any interurban or street railway, and the additional taxes on the telephone company because of the King tax bill, in fact, have amounted to more than 25 cents an instrument a month—certainly no justification for the increase in rates, approximately 50 per cent.

I suggest to you therefore, in the kindest and most friendly criticism, that this whole matter should be re-opened.

TEXAS HIGHWAY TO MEXICO WILL BE MEETING TOPIC

Perfection of Division of the Bankhead Route Will Be Worked Out in April.

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 6.—Further progress toward perfection of the Texas-Mexico division of the Bankhead highway is expected at the meeting of the Bankhead Highway association to be held at Phoenix, Ariz., April 24-29. F. E. Morris, president of the Automobile Club of Texas, has received word to this effect from J. A. Rountree of Birmingham, Ala., director-general of the Bankhead association.

The Automobile Club of Texas has completed a log and map of the Texas-Mexico division and marked the highway its entire length. The division extends from El Paso, Texas to Laredo, Tex. The club has received President Obregon's endorsement of the proposed extension of the Bankhead and Meridian highways to the Mexican capital, Mr. Morris said, thus creating an international tie that will be beneficial to both the United States and Mexico.

The Automobile Club of Texas is planning to aid in demonstrating to the communities along the Mexican extension the value that would accrue as the result of having a longer and mapped international highway traversing them. Mr. Morris said the club hopes to send a party over the route to do preliminary work and to talk up the highway to the Mexicans.

The Meridian highway extends from Winnipeg to Laredo. Its extension to Mexico City is being considered. The Bankhead connects Washington and Laredo. Over two routes from Hot Springs which join at El Paso, one through Oklahoma and New Mexico and the other entirely through Texas, it extends through Arizona again splitting at Lordsburg, and converging again at Tempe. It has its western terminus at San Diego, Cal.

The Automobile Club of Texas is now waiting for Mexico to carry out its logging, mapping and marking program, proposed by the club. It is expected that after this has been accomplished an amazing exchange of automobile traffic between the countries connected will result.

ARCHBISHOP OF MILAN SELECTED AS NEW PONTIFF

One of Most Recent Cardinals of College Selected to Rule Holy See.

troops and the immense throng which had crowded forward. The soldiers presented arms as his holiness appeared and the crowd fell to its knees, many being overcome with emotion.

The coronation of Pope Pius XI will constitute the last and most magnificent ceremony of all those attending the death of the supreme pontiff and the election of his successor.

The exact date for the coronation, as well as the place where it will be held, will be designated by Pope Pius himself.

Cardinal Achille Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, who today at Rome was chosen pope to succeed the late Pope Benedict XV, was for several years papal nuncio in Ireland, where his discharge of important ecclesiastical functions earned for him the esteem of the British and the gratitude of the Irish authorities.

Cardinal Ratti was born in Desio, Italy, on March 31, 1857. For many years he was librarian of the Ambrosian library and archivist at Milan. Later he became librarian of the Vatican. In this position he remained until the new republic of Poland established official diplomatic relations with the Vatican, at which time Ratti was appointed ambassador and was assigned to Poland as the representative of the Holy See.

That country soon then turned to the estrangement from religion brought about by the communistic propaganda from Soviet Russia and Archbishop Ratti, who had been in Poland for several years, was called upon to represent the Holy See in that country.

Cardinal Ratti was one of the most important archbishops in Italy. The city being a great industrial center, one of its main requirements is that the cardinal should possess a thorough knowledge of political and social problems. He is reputed to have liberal tendencies.

Phone Equipment On German Trains

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—After wireless telephones, the train telephone, the day train between Berlin and Hamburg is now equipped with apparatus enabling the traveler to ring up any one he pleases within a wide area.

The phone is a combination of wireless and wire telephone. It travels through an ordinary telephone pole, but on top of the car is a wireless set with the regulation antenna. The wireless, tall, is picked up by the telephone wire running alongside the railway track and the car is thus connected with an exchange which gives him the right number.

So successful has been the service that it, extension all over Germany, is regarded as merely matter of time.

Girls' Wear Stirs Campus Policeman

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 6.—They'll have to widen the sidewalks, or the girls must buckle up, the campus policeman at Ohio State University.

It seems that all co-eds at Ohio State are wearing gossamer, with buckles and tops. The policeman declared that when two co-eds walk along together, buckles become entangled, discomfort and trouble ensuing, involving a blockade of traffic.

How to Vote

In Oakland, Emeryville and Piedmont voters will express themselves on two propositions—division and the charter. If you are opposed to division and higher taxes, vote "NO" on both proposals. Outside of Oakland, Emeryville and Piedmont the one question to be voted on is that on the separation of Oakland from the rest of the county. Each vote in the outside territory counts as much as any in Oakland, as it takes a majority of all the votes cast in the county for Oakland to separate and for division to be brought about. Vote "NO" against division and higher taxes.

PROPOSALS SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF ELECTORS.

PROPOSAL	YES	NO
That the City of Oakland, the City of Emeryville and the Town of Piedmont be permitted to separate from the County of Alameda and constitute a city and county of their own.
That the City of Oakland, the City of Emeryville and the Town of Piedmont be permitted to separate from the County of Alameda and constitute a city and county of their own.

Voters of Berkeley Ask Defeat of County Split

BERKELEY, Feb. 6.—Indications that Berkeley is to vote "No" at tomorrow's election is seen today in the long lists of citizens who have placed themselves on record as opposed to the proposed division of Alameda County. The University of California Californian, student edition, today warned the voters that a decreased legislative delegation can only work harm to the university and the Berkeley Courier came out with an appeal against division.

APPEAL TO VOTERS.

It follows: "The citizens of all the communities outside of Oakland, and 12,000 voters of that city who opposed the first charter election, address this appeal to you as a voter of Alameda County living in Berkeley, and invoke your aid to prevent an injustice. We ask you to vote 'No' on the proposed division of Alameda County."

"One of the immediately harmful results, should this scheme carry, would be the break-up of this county's strength in the legislature. It would seriously jeopardize for all time many county projects for which united strength is absolutely necessary. The most important of these projects is the University of California, which always has required—and received—the solid support of the whole Alameda county delegation at Sacramento to achieve its objects before the legislature."

"Your neighbors stood by you at the first charter election and the vote of Berkeley contributed largely to the defeat of the divisionists. The vote of November 15 was a positive rejection of the policy of dividing the central side of the bay of San Francisco."

COERCION OPPOSED.

"Certain interests in Oakland now propose to coerce at least two independent municipalities (Emeryville and Piedmont) into a merger with Oakland, although both voted overwhelmingly against such merger, and will do so again. While it is believed that this vote of fair play should vote to make it impossible."

"Disfranchisement can be accomplished only through the consent of voters of the entire county. Division would increase taxes for all the counties and would bring expensive litigation and interminable difficulties. It would call for new public buildings, the duplication of voluminous public records, and the creation of new county seats. The expense of these changes necessarily would be enormous. Division would disrupt and destroy the spirit and substance of that cooperative and joint action which for years have prevailed among the people of the entire county."

"With implicit confidence in your sense of justice and relying on your devotion to the rights of established principles of American government, we ask you to vote 'No' at the election to be held February 7."

"Piedmont Civic Association, by Charles H. Bradley, president; A. G. Wagner, secretary."

"Emeryville Industries Association, by A. S. MacKenzie, president; R. S. Hawley, secretary."

"Alameda County Anti-Division League, by W. B. Gibson, president; W. H. Parker, secretary."

"San Leandro Chamber of Commerce, by Wm. J. Gannon, president; F. B. Granger, secretary."

"Federated Chambers of Commerce of Eder and Washington Townships (including the Chambers of Commerce of Alameda City, Alameda, Hayward, Irvington, Niles, Pleasanton, San Leandro and the Men's Club of Washington townships."

RUSS CHILDREN GET U. S. FOOD FOR CHRISTMAS

Holiday There Falls on Jan. 7. Instead of Dec. 25, As in America.

By EDWIN W. HULLINGER (United Press Staff Correspondent).

MOSCOW (By Mail to United Press).—One million Russian children were made happy Christmas day by the A. R. A. throughout the Volga famine zone, in Petrograd and in Moscow.

In Russia, however, Christmas Day came January 7, instead of December 25. The orthodox church has never recognized the new calendar, and all religious festivals still follow the old time, now fourteen days behind the modern calendar.

Christmas dinners were served in all the A. R. A.'s 5,000 feeding depots throughout Russia. These were the first Christmas dinners the children had for four years. For the smaller ones it was the first Christmas dinner in their lives.

Christmas gifts were distributed in the A. R. A. branches in Moscow to about 30,000 children, and in Petrograd to more than 50,000. Gifts were given in the provincial depots in the famine zone wherever possible.

KITS PREPARED.

Thousands of little "kits" were prepared by the Russian volunteer workers in the A. R. A. in Moscow. Women of noble families, shopkeepers, manufacturers' wives and peasant women sewed side by side for weeks in the warm rooms of the Hermitage restaurant, formerly Moscow's gayest and latest cafe, now central children's feeding depot for the A. R. A., making little kits for the children, making for sewing outfits for the little girls, assorting warm socks and stockings, little sweaters, etc. There were real pocket knives for the older boys and girls.

While the winter snows piled deeper upon White Moscow—Moscow is called White Moscow during the four months of winter when the bare earth is never visible and the snow grows deeper and deeper with the deposits of many storms—thirty thousand bright-eyed children gathered around eleven Christmas trees in the Moscow depots.

Strange to their Russian ears, but accents they have grown to love. And although the children did not understand the meaning of the words, they did understand the message of love and Christmas behind them.

EASTER OBSERVED.

The Russians do not "make so much" of Christmas, however, as the Americans, English and Germans. Easter, not Christmas, is the principal festival of the year in Russia. Christmas is observed, of course, and gifts are given. Before the war nearly every home had its little tree for the children. But since the revolution, circumstances have seldom permitted even this observance.

Santa Claus comes to Russian children under the name of Dedushka Moroz (Grandfather Frost). He has a pack just as during his visits to America, but he draws it in a little sled behind him. Over his shoulder Santa slings a Christmas tree when he crosses the Russian frontier. He comes about the same time as the jolly little red cap he has a tall, pointed, dark cap, also of white fur. Instead of squeezing down a chimney to a row of stockings, Santa slips in through the window and slides his gifts under the pillows of the sleeping children.

"Merry Christmas" does not exist as a salutation Christmas morning in Russia. "I wish you a happy feast day" is the nearest equivalent, but this is said on other feast days as well as Christmas.

Flagpole Will Be Given Motor Firm

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 6.—Early March will witness a ceremony in which the city of San Leandro will be formally presented to the Purant Motor Company, located on the corner of East Fourteenth street and Stanley road, by local school children, according to the plan of J. The presentation of the pole, although coming directly from Begler, will be with the understanding that it is from the City of San Leandro.

MINERS' STRIKE WOULD NOT CUT OFF SUPPLIES

Operator Says Walkout Might Cut Miners' Output 50 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A coal strike at the termination of the existing contract between operators and miners on March 31 would have no immediate effect on the nation, according to Thomas H. Watkins, president of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Corporation and regarded as one of the best informed operators in the bituminous coal industry.

Asked today how the production of the country would be affected in the event of a strike, he answered: "In some districts, not at all. In the non-union districts a substantial increase in production would follow a strike in the union field and the production of the country as a whole would not be cut off."

"There would be no immediate effect, as the stocks in hands of consumers cover at least ninety days' supply at the present rate of consumption."

"Increased development now going on in the non-union districts naturally tends to reduce production in the union districts, and this is likely to result in a substantial increase in the country's consumptive demand today is about 65 per cent of the greatest known maximum production."

Watkins declared "the operators are not profiteering" and cannot afford increased wages to the miners. "The margins of profit have many causes, but have been totally eliminated in the last few months."

"In what manner could the ultimate price of soft coal to the consumer be reduced?" he was asked. "The answer is, by a reduction in freight rates, reduction in the cost of distribution," he was asked.

The consumer would get the benefit of whatever reductions were made in freight rates or wages, Watkins declared.

"The demands of the operators when the present contract with the soft coal miners expires on March 31 have not yet been formulated, but presumably will ask for a rate of wages that will allow the meeting of competition from the non-union operations," Watkins continued.

"CANNOT SAFELY IGNORE." "The coal situation is controlled by general economic and competitive conditions and cannot safely ignore the laws of supply and demand either in the labor or commodity market."

The non-union mines of the country are producing an increasingly large percentage of the total coal output, according to Watkins.

For instance, in the California for the year 1921 the production of the union mines fell to about 43 per cent of the total production, while in 1920 it was 54 per cent of the total, he said.

Comparisons between the coal miners' wage scale and that of the non-union miners run from 30 to 50 per cent in different districts, according to Watkins.

CAT SPEARS FISH ON OCEAN VOYAGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Mary Jane, gray-furred with the exception of her high hind leg, which is white from the knee down, feline mascot of the Red D liner Philadelphia, holds the record for catching flying fish.

According to Woods James, purser of the ship, she caught twenty-seven on the last trip and had her claws in two more which were dropped and got away, eclipsing the record of her famous mother, Zulka.

Here is the way Purser James tells the story: "We have had cats and cats and cats on the Philadelphia, but when it comes to catching flying fish the championship goes to Mary Jane. Her mother, Zulka, was pretty good in her day, but she quit us in the interval between prohibition and the establishment of the three-mile limit bar and she never came back."

"Zulka, at her best, however, never caught more than eleven flying fish on one trip between here and Curacao. She was yellow and conspicuous and the fishes generally dodged her."

"Mary Jane's system is to sit in an open port near the water line and reach out for the fish as they fly past. She seldom misses one that comes within range."

Disloyal Prisoners Seeking Release

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—Efforts are being made to bring about the release of 113 prisoners now serving sentences in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas., for alleged violation of the war time laws. It became known when Roger Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties union of New York, passed through this city on his return to the east, after having interviewed the prisoners with permission of the department of justice.

All of the prisoners have been sentenced for violation of the war time laws.

Included in the number are two Mexican radicals and J. O. Benton, a Socialist editor of Duluth, Minn., and eleven prisoners from Oklahoma and northern Texas, who had advocated peaceful opposition to the selective draft.

California University Would Stay in Alameda County

UNDER the heading, "County Division and the University," the Daily Californian of California today calling attention to the importance of a solid legislative delegation at Sacramento. The California is the student daily. Its editorial follows:

Faculty and students of the university may very properly be interested in the county division election which takes place tomorrow in Alameda county. The issue at stake involves two questions: Are we to be a university in a city and county of Berkeley? Or are we to remain a university in the county of Alameda, as at present?

Conflicting arguments as to the advantages or disadvantages of either course should be weighed carefully. One point in particular, however, stands out as being of vital importance to the university.

The story of our biennial appeal to the legislature is fresh in the minds of those who were here during the last legislative session. In that struggle we had the united support of the Alameda county delegation, which is the third largest in the state and comprises one-tenth of the entire legislature. The narrow margin of some of our victories attests to our need for that support.

In a city and county of Berkeley the university would be represented in the legislature by a delegation of two, or three at the most. The proposed county division might therefore affect very seriously the attitude of the legislature towards university appropriations. The importance of such a consequence should cause Californians to take great interest in the outcome of tomorrow's election.

GENERAL DE WET, WARREN GREGORY BOER CHIEF, DIES

Noted Leader in South Africa Conflict in 1899 Passes Away.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Union of South Africa, Feb. 6 (By the Associated Press).—General Christian de Wet, commander-in-chief of the Boer forces in the war of 1899, died in Dordrecht last Friday.

Christian Rudolf de Wet was born October 7, 1854. He served in the first Anglo-Boer war of 1880-81, and was a member of the Volksraad in the second war, in which he took such a prominent part, broke out. He was given an obscure command, but was later sent to relieve General Cronje, whom he succeeded on the latter's surrender.

His operations against the British were marked by considerable strategic ability. His forces annihilated isolated British posts while the enemy's columns attempted in vain to surround him.

In the peace negotiations of 1902 he took a prominent part, and visited Europe with other Boer generals, seeking without avail a modification of the peace terms.

He was elected a member of the first parliament of the Orange Free State in 1907 and was appointed minister of agriculture.

Shortly after the outbreak of the World War he headed a rebellion in the Orange Free State and western Transvaal, which was suppressed after a month of fighting, in which a son, Daniel, was killed and General de Wet wounded. When his forces surrendered to those under General Louis Botha, De Wet escaped with 25 men, but was captured.

He was tried in June, 1915, convicted of treason, sentenced to six years' imprisonment and fined $10,000. He was released after being confined only six months.

Fourteen Adults In One Family to Vote 'No' on Split

The fourteen adults in the Vander Naillen family will vote "No" at tomorrow's election. In a statement given to the public the members of this old Oakland family set forth their reasons for opposing county division, as follows:

In the month of October, 1878, some 45 years ago, the Vander Naillen family moved into this locality, when there was no more than half a dozen houses on Telegraph avenue between Forty-fifth and 52nd streets, and consequently have seen this part grow to its present splendid business condition. Several of the family were born in this neighborhood, who today, with the rest of the large family, not only reside here but also are all property owners and taxpayers.

Old-timers and records will show that we have always interested ourselves in behalf of progress, prosperity and the welfare of the taxpayer in this community. Having continued along these same principles we feel that, after having thoroughly made investigation from all angles, we can conscientiously urge you to vote no and against county division on February 7. Yours for your own good, "THE VANDER NAILLEN FAMILY."

NATIVES AROUSED BY RESTORATION INJUNCTION SUIT

Session Called to Plan Action in War Against Reconstruction of Missions.

To discuss the question raised by the injunction suit filed by John C. Frohlinger to prevent the use of state funds for the restoration of Mission San Diego, representatives of the seven Alameda county parishes of the Native Sons of the Golden West were today summoned by Chairman James P. Cronin of the extension committee to a special meeting to be held at Native Sons' hall Wednesday evening.

Through his attorney, E. H. Christian, Assemblyman from Hayward, Frohlinger a month ago sued to enjoin State Treasurer Friend W. Richardson and other state officials from carrying out the provisions of an act of the last legislature, setting aside $10,000 for the restoration of the southern mission. He based his suit on the ground that the mission is not a state institution, but is owned and controlled by a religious denomination.

Officials of the Native Sons asserted today that the preservation of the Mission San Diego, the first erected in the state, is not a sectarian affair, but one affecting the entire state.

MAN MAROONED BY THEFT SENDS PLEA FOR PANTS

Will the thief who stole William Tippet's pants last night please return them to his temporary lodgings at 823 Washington street? Tippet's is marooned in his room and cannot get out because of the loss.

The Tippet's S. O. S. signal was delivered via telephone to the police early this morning, and Inspector George Powers immediately started on a frantic search for those pants. Up to a late hour today Powers' powers of sleuthing had availed naught.

Divisionists' Figures Show $873,871 Deficit

E. V. Williams, secretary of the Alameda County Tax Association, has concocted a statement of "revenues and expenses" under separate city and county of Oakland. This statement purports to show a "possible" saving of $776,822 under the new system. The advocates of county division have made much of this statement in their campaign efforts. On Saturday the propaganda organ of the divisionists published the balance sheet of Williams' statement in which he summed up the results of the Williams' "investigation."

For purposes of discussion, this statement is treated seriously and temporarily considered to be correct. The following items are from the Williams report:

Total revenues available for proposed new county at present rates of taxation $3,905,192

Total expenses for proposed new city and county $4,785,991

Excess of revenues over expenditures for fiscal year 1920-21 $429,799 $1,128,024

Possible savings in taxes under the proposed new county government $776,822

NOTABLE OMISSIONS. So far it looks pleasant enough. But there are some notable omissions in Williams' statement of expenses. The first item omitted is IMPROVEMENTS at the rate provided for in the city and county budgets for the fiscal year of 1921-22. This item alone amounts to $1,218,024.

There is another omitted item. It is that of Oakland's contribution to the schools for the pay of teachers, covered in last year's budget at $206,098.

Another omitted item is the cost of acquiring county buildings by bond issue, the minimum possible annual cost $123,571.

Total of three omitted items $1,649,693

ALLEGED CURTAILMENTS. There are other ridiculous omissions and hypothetical curtailments, but those three for a starter. Now to recapitulate:

The Williams' statement of revenues and expenses for the proposed new city and county which the county divisionists exploit, gives the revenues at $3,905,192.

The Williams' statement of expenses $4,785,991

THE OMITTED ITEMS, which must be included, $1,649,693

Total expenses $6,435,683

The DEFICIT at present rates of taxation, according to the statement put forward by the divisionists, $2,530,491

Thus the savings of $776,822 claimed in the Williams' statement has quickly become, after an instant's examination of the facts, a deficit of $873,871.

IGNORES SCHOOL SUPPORT. It is to be observed, also, that the Williams statement ignores the items of school support and of debt service.

Why these omissions?

The first omitted in the fiscal year 1920-21, in the area proposed to be included in the separate city and county of Oakland, the expenditure of $3,629,011, of which $2,768,454 had to be raised by local taxation. Debt service for Oakland alone called for $814,235, all of which had to be raised by taxation.

The Truth About Consolidation Savings

THE GREATER OAKLAND CHARTER LEAGUE, in order to determine for itself and then give to the voters of Oakland the best information possible in regard to Consolidation of the City and County and the benefits to be derived from the city manager form of government, as compared with the present system of government, requested the Tax Association of Alameda County to set up comparative figures on the cost of the two systems of government.

THE TAX ASSOCIATION HAS BEEN organized for eleven years. It has issued seventy bulletins concerning taxation in Alameda County. No one of these has been attacked. It has been and is an acknowledged authority on taxation matters.

THE TAX ASSOCIATION'S REPORT showed absolute tangible savings under the proposed charter government of $776,000 a year.

TO FURTHER SUBSTANTIATE THESE FIGURES, the Greater Oakland Charter League then submitted the Tax Association's report to two of the leading firms of public accountants on the Pacific Coast—Klink, Bean & Co., who devised and installed the present accounting system of the City of Oakland, and Lester Herrick & Herrick, who devised and installed the present accounting system of Alameda County.

THESE TWO ACCOUNTING FIRMS, in a joint audit, certified to the savings of $776,000 a year with the following explanation: "We have analyzed and considered various statements bearing upon the subject as properly prepared by the Tax Association and the published reports of the auditors of Alameda County and the three cities for the fiscal year 1920-21, together with the changes proposed by the new charter."

WE HAVE ABSOLUTE CONFIDENCE in the report of the Tax Association and the certified joint audit of Klink, Bean & Co. and Lester Herrick & Herrick, which showed absolute savings of $776,000 a year without considering the additional savings from unified purchasing and the efficiency of the manager form of government.

BASED UPON THESE FACTS, we are absolutely convinced that the Taxpayers of Oakland can save not less than $1,000,000 a year in taxes by adopting, on February 7th, a consolidated government for the City and County of Oakland.

JOHNSON DOESN'T OPPOSE PLAN OF DISARMAMNET

Senator Writes in Response to Criticism He Is Not for Quadruple Alliance.

On the ground that his critics have proceeded upon an erroneous assumption, Senator Hiram W. Johnson has written a letter to the San Francisco Electrical Development League in response to resolutions criticizing him on his stand in the limitations conference.

The resolution read as follows: "In view of the fact that Senator Hiram W. Johnson has publicly stated that he is not in favor of the present limitation of armament as proposed at the national capital and is openly criticizing the proposed articles that have been drawn up by the conference, etc."

In reply Johnson set forth in his letter that he is not against the limitation of armament, but against the quadruple alliance.

"On the first day of the conference when Mr. Hughes presented his program for disarmament I very cordially endorsed that program. In common with every human being I am most anxious to prevent future wars, both from the humanitarian and economic standpoint.

"If the sessions had continued in the open I have no doubt that within a week this plan would have been adopted because the public opinion of the people would have compelled its adoption. Subsequently and before adoption of Secretary Hughes' plan the quadruple alliance was presented and executed. This is a very different thing from the original program for disarmament.

RANGERS SEARCH FOR BANKER, WIFE MISSING IN SNOW

Men On Snowshoes Set Out

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 6.—Two forest rangers, equipped with snowshoes, for which they had to send to Los Angeles, left Descanso, thirty-five miles from here, at noon yesterday, to relieve a snow-bound party, believed to have been caught in the heavy snow on Laguna mountain, about fifteen miles away.

In the party, according to reports received by the rangers, are J. O. Butts, cashier of a bank in Imperial Valley, his wife and two children. Mrs. Butts and the two children had been camping in a cabin on the summit of Laguna mountain.

Butts, it is reported, went up from Descanso on January 23, intending to remain several days with his family. He is said to have driven his automobile to a ranch about twelve miles from the summit and continued on foot from that place.

CANYON ROADWAY PAVING BIDS TO BE OPENED TODAY

Seven Miles of Highway in San Pablo Canyon to Be Awarded Contractors.

MARTINEZ, Feb. 6.—Bids are to be opened today by the board of supervisors for construction of the seven remaining unpaved miles of the San Pablo Canyon highway, the last award to be made from the county's $2,600,000 highway bond issue.

With fifteen sets of plans and specifications granted to contractors a large number of bids for building the last link of the highway are expected. It is anticipated that at least seven offers will be submitted to the supervisors.

Completion of the highway has been held up many months because of construction of the great dam of the East Bay Water company. Grading has already been completed and all is in readiness for an early start after awarding of the contract. The seven mile strip, opening up one of the most scenic sections in Contra Costa, will be of double slab construction or the same as completed sections of the highway.

Alamedan Hurt As Car Upsets With Four

ALAMEDA, Feb. 6.—William Von Gelder, 2225 Central avenue, proprietor of a local delicatessen shop, is at home today suffering from a bruise on his arm as the result of an automobile accident at Warm Springs yesterday. The machine which Von Gelder was driving tipped over, pinning him and three other occupants underneath. Those with Von Gelder at the time were his wife, M. Henry, a friend of Von Gelder's, and Mrs. Bert Conant, wife of Detective Bert Conant of the local police department.

Other occupants of the car escaped save Mrs. Von Gelder, who was slightly bruised. The car was crowded off the road by another machine driven by an unidentified man. When Von Gelder turned off the road to avoid a crash he struck some soft earth and the machine turned turtle.

The driver of the other car, with the aid of farm hands, pulled the wrecked machine off Von Gelder and his companions. They were taken to the local hospital, where Mrs. Conant was treated at the emergency hospital. The car was badly damaged.

Piedmont High Falls Before Livermore Quintet

LIVERMORE, Feb. 6.—For the first time in several years the local basketball court was occupied on a Saturday night by the High School team as the main attraction. In the past Saturday night has always been reserved by Livermore's stellar team for the "big game." Nevertheless, the fans were treated to one of the liveliest games seen here this season, when the Livermore High school team defeated the Piedmont High school team by a 31-10 score.

The game was full of snap from start to finish, and the local team's victory was directly responsible to their skill in passing. In this particular their playing was equal to any put up by the more experienced teams that have played here. Lawless, at forward for the locals, put up an exceptionally good game, and the close guarding of Roy Henry was responsible for the visitors' low score.

In the preliminary game between the second teams of the two schools the visitors forfeited the game when they refused to abide by the decision of the referee.

The game of Saturday night was the last to be played by the Livermore High school team here this season. The team will close its season with an excellent record, having met and defeated some of the fastest teams in this section of the state. Even the fast Fremont High school basketball team fell before the locals. Livermore has made a total of 261 baskets against their opponents' 144.

Next Wednesday night Martine's Native Sons will meet the Y. M. C. team in San Francisco. This game is being looked forward to by the fans, as the Y. M. C. have a clean record this season, having met no defeats. The Natives, too, have a good record, as they have won five games and lost but two. With the three McGilchey brothers playing, the Natives expect to add another victory to their list.

Amended Building Law Is Approved

An amendment to the building ordinance, prohibiting any machine shop in a residential district, was passed to print by the City Council today as the result of an agitation against the establishment of a machine shop in a residential district.

The previous ordinance banned such shops within 70 feet of a residence, and specified a limited horsepower for the machinery.

An ordinance was passed to print appropriating $5000 for new roadways and restrooms for the western garbage dump.

The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the sewerage of the west side of Broadway, from Second to Twelfth street.

S. F. SIXTH IN PER CAPITA COST OF GOVERNMENT

Los Angeles Second Among Cities in Expense of Running Municipality.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—San Francisco stands sixth in the per capita cost of government in the list of twelve American cities, with a population of 500,000 or more, according to census bureau returns just made public. One of the interesting features of the report is that the cost of governing American cities has gone up all the way from $6 to $15 per capita since 1917. In San Francisco the increase in three years is $10 per capita, the 1917 per capita expense being set at $25.62 and the 1920 at $35.62.

Los Angeles is shown in the report to be next to the most expensively governed city in the country, being exceeded only by Boston. The Los Angeles cost per capita is $46.48, or $3.42 more than San Francisco. The Boston per capita rate is $49.68, which tops the list. St. Louis, Mo., holds the record for cost among the twelve large cities with a per capita expense of only $28.06 and spending for all civil divisions the sum of $21,876,000.

While San Francisco is sixth in the per capita column, its actual total taxation for 1920 is the lowest of any of the twelve largest cities, being only $18,603,000 in 1920 compared to $27,288,000 for Los Angeles.

New York's per capita rate is $39.29 and its total tax payments amount to $22,544,000.

In all of the foregoing computations late figures are lacking from Detroit, Cleveland and Baltimore.

Pauline Frederick, Star of Screen, Weds Seattle Man

Rumor of Reconciliation With Former Husband Silenced by Ceremony

Pauline Frederick, famous motion picture and stage star, principal in several entrancing romances, was married Saturday night at Santa Ana to Dr. Charles Alton Rutherford of Seattle, according to a news despatch received here today. Friends definitely set at rest rumors to the effect that she planned to return to her former husband, Willard Mack, actor and playwright, or that she contemplated marrying one of several notables who have been said to have paid court.

It was necessary for Miss Frederick in March, 1921, emphatically to deny that she was engaged to J. Allen Boone, western representative of a large motion picture corporation.

Still later, in last August, she definitely and positively declared she was "through" with Mack, who was reported to be in a New York hospital specializing in the treatment of patients addicted to liquor.

While Mack was in the hospital he was visited by Miss Frederick and he accompanied her to a train later when she departed for Los Angeles. This gave rise to the report that couple had become reconciled. Miss Frederick's denial followed later.

The following month Miss Frederick was sued by Attorney George Joseph of New York City for "seduction." She declined to pay the bill and brought a counter suit charging that Joseph had sent her a number of endearing telegrams and had included them in the itemized bill which he had sent her.

The case, which it was thought that she would enter the Southern Pacific depot at Santa Clara recently, endeavoring to open the safe there, but escaping only with a large amount of railroad tickets. They admitted that they had stolen the Leibe billiard parlors in Santa Clara in November and the Burke-Metzger store in Berryessa, near here, on Christmas eve. On December 29, they admitted, they entered the home of E. R. Anderson, 34 Nagle street, and on January 3 the Lawrence residence at 451 Stockton avenue. On December 27, they state, they robbed the F. E. Reynolds home at 653 Morse street.

Sheriff Lyle expects the uncovering of a number of other local "jobs" by the boy criminals today.

BOY BANDIT GANG BARES RECORD OF DARING ROBBERIES

Four Santa Clara Youths Held for Auto Theft, Confess Criminal Career.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 6.—Unfolding a long series of daring criminal operations that included thefts of a score or more of automobiles, robbery of "countless" homes in this and other cities and the attempted escape of the safe in the Santa Clara Southern Pacific depot, four Santa Clara youths today confessed to Sheriff George W. Lyle that they are wanted in many places.

The quartet of youthful criminals, ranging in age from 16 to 29, were arrested in Hayward last Thursday in possession of an automobile stolen from County Superior Court. L. Hubbard of this city, and today they admitted that the residents of Hayward would have "been in for a good trimming" Thursday night had not the hand of the law descended upon them.

The daring work of the youths, who would almost invariably steal an automobile in which to make their escape after entering and ransacking residences, has been carried out for more than a year past, according to their confession, and has embraced San Jose, Santa Clara, Palo Alto and other points on the peninsula.

The four lads are John and William Ferriera, 20 and 17 years of age, respectively, both of 745 Harrison street, Santa Clara, and Frank and Antonio Fraga, 19 and 16, respectively, both of 1480 Grant street, Santa Clara.

John Ferriera, 20, a discharger from the Preston reform school a little more than a year ago after having been committed to that institution for a year, confessed to Sheriff Lyle today that he has been the leader of the "bandit four," guiding the other youths in their "line of operation."

Following their confession in the county jail here, brought about by long questioning on the part of Sheriff Lyle and his deputies, the boys led the officers to the basement of the Ferriera home in Santa Clara, where they stored a car valued at more than $1000, of officers said.

This loot, taken from numerous fashionable residences in the College park and Hester districts here, consisted of jewelry, silverware and other articles of value.

The youthful criminals also admitted that they have spent "hundreds of dollars" during the past year, and that they had stolen from homes and stores.

They further confessed that many of the automobile thefts in and about San Jose during the past year, with the subsequent jobs of striking the cars of their relatives, parts, were carried out by them, the machines being abandoned following the completion of whatever "job" the youths had on hand.

While the boys could not detail to the officers the names of addresses of "scores" of places they have entered, they listed a number of recent dates.

The confessed that it was they who entered the Southern Pacific depot at Santa Clara recently, endeavoring to open the safe there, but escaping only with a large amount of railroad tickets. They admitted that they had stolen the Leibe billiard parlors in Santa Clara in November and the Burke-Metzger store in Berryessa, near here, on Christmas eve. On December 29, they admitted, they entered the home of E. R. Anderson, 34 Nagle street, and on January 3 the Lawrence residence at 451 Stockton avenue. On December 27, they state, they robbed the F. E. Reynolds home at 653 Morse street.

Sheriff Lyle expects the uncovering of a number of other local "jobs" by the boy criminals today.

Divorce Is Awarded To Mrs. Anderson

Mrs. Mildred Anderson today was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Edward W. Anderson, superintendent of mails in Alameda, who, she testified, told her she ought to be hitched to a plow, and that the only way to handle her was to hit her over the head with a mallet.

The hearing of the divorce suit was interrupted last fall by the death of Mrs. Anderson's father, Frank S. Droila, one of her witnesses, during the noon recess of the trial, and again several days ago when her cousin, Mrs. Louise Kenney of Alameda, another witness, became hysterical in court and rushed screaming into the corridor.

Mrs. Anderson was awarded $55 a month alimony and custody of a minor daughter.

Two squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 teaspoonful soda, dissolved in 1 cup boiling water, pour over chocolate and let stand until chocolate is dissolved and cool.

Part 2—1½ cups sugar (brown preferred), ½ cup butter, ½ cup sugar milk, 2 eggs, beaten separately, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoonful vanilla and 1 teaspoonful of vanilla; bake in sheet or loaf pan in slow oven, and not too long; test with a stick, is really best when made in a sheet with a good fudge frosting and nut and raisin filling between.

In response to several requests the following paragraph on tax exemption for soldiers in the State of California is being printed:

It is a California State law that every soldier of any war is exempt $1000 on any tax, either city or county, providing he makes application for this exemption between the first Monday in March and the first Monday in July, and providing he and his wife are not worth more than $5000. If the soldier is buying on the installment plan he does not get the above full amount of exemption, until he has paid his full $1000 down. This also applies to widows of soldiers who are over 60.

NO SWIMMING SUITS FOR STREET WEAR

"Say, Eleanor, didn't I see you leave the swimming pool at the Y. W. C. A. last night just as I was going in? You were all wet and dripping, and I saw you streaking out the door toward the shower baths. Say, I noticed how much heavier you were in your bathing suit. You evidently have succeeded in gaining a few pounds."

"Sure I have. I have the Y. W. C. A. to thank for that. I was so skinny and sickly till I took up swimming. Wonderful exercise. I am so proud of those few pounds I have gained. Worse luck, though. Only swims when I'm wearing a bathing suit, and I can't wear it on the street. And say, Harriet, I may have to, at that. I am getting so low on clothes I don't know when I can afford some new ones. I gave all I could afford to help the Y. W. C. A. on their budget campaign."

"Don't worry, old dear. I gave more than I could afford, too. It's up to us girls to do our share. But tell me how you can get your clothes, too. I did. Went to Cherry's 515 13th street. You don't have to pay a small amount down until 30 days, and the remainder when convenient. Mighty good values, too, I'm telling you."

Cherry's store for men is at 523 13th street.—Advertisement.

FIRST DESERTION FROM OPEN SHOP RULE ANNOUNCED

Lumber Mill Owners Say the American Plan Has Failed; Go Back to Unions.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 6.—The Hubbard and Carmichael lumber mill, one of the largest in Santa Clara county, today resumed operations as a closed shop, employing only union men. It was the first defection from the ranks of the mills, which two weeks ago adopted the American plan of operation, resulting in a subsequent strike by union labor.

Joy reigned in the ranks of the union leaders, who declared the action of the Hubbard and Carmichael plant was the "beginning of the end" of the American plan, while on the other hand the leaders of the American plan stated that the action "means nothing."

Officials of the industrial association sponsoring the American plan declared that the big mill had been neutral from the outset, never having avowedly aligned itself with the American plan movement. The officials of the Hubbard-Carmichael plant had little to say other than that the American plan barbers had been unable to fulfill their promise to furnish mechanics to operate their plant and that therefore there was but one thing for them to do.

As the result of a referendum vote taken amongst the members of the local Chamber of Commerce on the action of the board of directors of that body in endorsing the American plan, the Chamber of Commerce is today on record as favoring the plan by a vote of 542 to 94.

J. P. Cambiano, secretary of the local Building Trades Council, stated this morning that the result of the vote was nothing more than he had anticipated.

S. G. Tompkins, head of the industrial association, declared the vote showed that "men looking into the future for the best interests of themselves and the community show that they realize the American plan to be the only road to prosperity."

JOBLESS ARMY GROWING LESS, FIGURES SHOW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Unemployment decreased sharply in the United States during January, the Department of Labor reported yesterday, and forty out of sixty-five cities and industrial centers had 12 per cent or more workers on payrolls January 31 than December 31. The calculation was made from the reports of 1123 concerns normally employing more than 500 people each.

Nearly all industries, outside of steel, textiles and railroads, increased their forces. In Detroit, center of the automobile industry, the increase was 23.9 per cent, in Sioux City, Iowa, 21 per cent, and in San Francisco, 14.5 per cent.

Denver showed the largest decrease in employment, with a drop in the number of employed of 43.7 per cent during the month.

L. A. DRY MEN FACE FRAME-UP CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Prohibition Agents James Doyle, C. H. Wheeler, J. M. Krumpholtz and J. H. Mitchell, charged with a conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, today will face three charges here today. Wheeler was arrested and released on $20,000 bonds. Pearce is in Los Angeles awaiting instructions from Mitchell, state prohibition director, and Doyle and Krumpholtz will arrive in this city from San Francisco.

Mitchell characterizes the charges as "frame-up" and he is prepared to fight the charges "to the last ditch."

The telegraphic wires were busy Saturday between Washington, San Francisco and Los Angeles preparing for the federal government's attention on the state warrants and perfecting the legal machinery to have all of the charges heard by a federal judge instead of in the state courts.

This, Mitchell states, will be accomplished as soon as his men set foot in Los Angeles.

LAST TRIBUTE IS PAID TO SOLDIER HERO OF GILROY

Community Mourns At Grave of Warrior Who Gave His Life on Field of France.

GILROY, Feb. 6.—The body of the late Corporal Charles Caleb Crews, who met his death July 17, 1918, while fighting for his country on the battlefields of France, today lies beneath the sod in the picturesque little cemetery here, where it was interred yesterday afternoon with the most impressive funeral rituals ever held for a citizen of this community.

Not in all the history of Gilroy has greater tribute been paid to any man than that which was accorded Crews yesterday. Virtually every man, woman and child in the community assembled in or near the town opera-house, in which the heroic soldier's body lay in state, to witness the last services in his honor, and later stood with bared heads in the little Gilroy cemetery as a bugler of Major R. T. Zane Post, No. 344, Veterans of Foreign Wars, San Jose, sounded taps for the dead soldier.

Crews was a native of Gilroy, the son of one of that city's most prominent families. He enlisted early in the world war and sailed for France as a member of Company C, Fifth Field Battalion, Signal Corps, of the United States army. He met his death when he heroically attempted the repair of telephone wires near the town of Grezannes, during the second battle of the Marne. He was struck by a flying shell.

Until its return to this country from France the dead hero's body lay with those of thousands of other American youths in the American graveyard at Chatou, Montonglaux, near Coulommiers, France.

Crews was prominent as a San Jose Eagle, being the only one of 55 members of that organization of that city who fought across the sea to lose his life. The Eagles yesterday came to Gilroy in a body to pay homage to their fallen comrade.

Exports of Hawaii Show Big Decrease

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 6.—(By Mail).—The erratic slump encountered by the price of raw sugar in 1921 was reflected today in the announcement of customs officials here that the value of exports of the Hawaiian Islands to the mainland United States had dropped from $192,383,185 in 1920 to $71,669,115 in 1921.

The heavy decrease was due in the main to the sugar slump. Although 1921 shipments of the commodity were only 8,746 tons less than the 1920 cargoes, the value of the 1921 production was $47,906,951, as compared with $158,712,537, the value of the 1920 crop.

Frank E. Woods Tells of His Career as Director for Screen

Lasky Official Has Starting Advice on Film Success

By FRANK E. WOODS.

It is embarrassing to talk of oneself. If a deprecating attitude is assumed, the writer is accused of being over-English; boasting, if he just comes out and tells how good he is, he is charged with lack of modesty. So we will endeavor to look for middle ground upon which to parade.

Early in life I determined to become a dominant factor in the motion picture industry, but there were innumerable delays and obstacles, owing to the dilatory tactics of the inventors of cinematography in inventing the same. One must live, however, so I took up newspaper work, while waiting for the development of what was to become the fifth industry of the nation.

Beginning as a newspaper carrier boy, I worked my way up gradually to the position of editor of a daily paper and to a salary equal to that of some of our most promising assistant cameramen.

FRANK E. WOODS, who writes of his career in the movies.

CARRY NEWSPAPER.

To anyone aspiring to a position as chief supervising director of a leading company in the motion picture industry, I can truthfully and wisely advise him to begin as a newspaper carrier boy and spend twenty-five or thirty years working his way up to the position of editor of a daily paper, and to a salary equal to that of some of our most promising assistant cameramen.

At any rate, I went back to screen writing and editing, and when Griffith came to Los Angeles as head of the production activities of the old Reliance and Majestic companies, I came along as his producing executive. Triangle and Fine Arts were an outgrowth, and their history is known to practically everyone interested in motion pictures. Some of our most popular stars of today—our most artistic and capable directors—received their education and first start at the studio at 4500 Sunset Boulevard.

WAS CO-WRITER.

It was during this experience that Griffith put my name on the screen as co-writer with himself of "The Birth of a Nation." Any of the later writers who have been similarly honored by the great D. W. will understand just how much part I really had in writing that continuity. When Triangle disintegrated, I went with the Lasky Company as supervising director, a position created for me. This was something over three years ago, and as there has been no indication of anything to the contrary, I may be permitted to remain a while longer.

Of course I could add something about my hobby. It is small game hunting—tracking down tiny-brained cranks who are endeavoring to muzzle the film industry with an unreasonable, unreasoned censorship. If they succeed, it will mean the death of this wonderful art-industry. Just as surely as similar restrictions applied to letters would sound the death knell of literature. African Miners' Strike Is Broken

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The solidarity of the striking miners in South Africa has been broken, according to a Reuters dispatch from Johannesburg, by the action of the moderate section in repudiating their leaders and asking Premier Smuts to receive a deputation to consider the appointment of an arbitration court. It is expected that Attorney General U. S. Webb will present a formal opinion clearing up the status of the legislation.

English May Boycott American Actors

LONDON, Feb. 6.—British actors, dismayed by threats of the Actors' Equity Association to bar them from American casts, intend to take drastic action against Americans if the move of the association succeeds.

Great indignation has marked the meetings already held, denouncing the equity plan, and threats have been made to boycott American actors and actresses on the English stage if the status of Britishers is touched in America. Alfred Lugo, secretary of the Actors' Association, declared:

"If a boycott of English actors is introduced in America it is obvious that similar action should be taken here. It would be most unjust to exclude English artists from the United States while Florence Ziegfeld and other American managers are allowed to produce here."

JAPANESE TELLS NATIVES TO BE TRUE AMERICANS

HILLO, Island of Hawaii, T. H., Jan. 10.—(By Mail).—Japanese residents in Hawaii have been admonished to bear their American-born children as good American citizens, "even to the point of instructing them that they must fight for their native land, America, against the land of their ancestors, Japan," by M. Zumoto, editor of the Herald of Asia, who is staying here several days on his way back from the international conference at Washington, according to an address he delivered today before an assemblage of plantation managers and business men.

"I find Japanese here are very well contented with their lot, with the treatment they receive and with the cordial attitude and friendly ways always extended to them by their white neighbors," Zumoto said. "Among other things I have tried to impress upon the Japanese people, who are Japanese subjects, and under the existing laws cannot very well expect to be admitted as Americans, that they are Japanese subjects and would probably die Japanese subjects, that circumstances have located them on this island for good. They have found themselves rooted to the soil, and whether they like it or not, most of them intend to stay."

As they are under protection of the American law and obtained a very good living under the hospitality of the American government, they must consider themselves American citizens in spirit, if not in fact, and should identify themselves with the local interests of Hawaii. As for their children, who are already American citizens and who are being taken care of very well in the public schools, they should bring them up at home as to give them every opportunity and encouragement to become good and loyal citizens of the United States."

Read About the 'Play Ball' Game

"Play Ball" made a great hit when it was put on the market late last year. No other ball game so nearly resembles the actual game as this, is so appealing to the baseball fan, or shows so many critical baseball situations in the real baseball "lingo." The players actually travel around the bases as in an actual game, are governed by the same rules, and the result is just as uncertain as in a regular game. Can be played in-doors and out—your mother, dad, sister and brother will all enjoy the fascinating "PLAY BALL" game. Follow the "big league" schedule by playing "Play Ball" at home in the evenings.

"Play Ball" is solidly and durably made of wood and steel and will last for years. You will never tire of playing it as long as baseball is the favorite National sport.

Memoirs in Corn, Farm Land Is High

(By International News Service.)
LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 4.—Memoirs in corn at the present price of that cereal, farm labor in Nebraska today is higher than it was at the peak of war-time prices.
This fact is pointed out by E. C. Paxton, statistician for the United States Bureau of Markets, a recent visitor in Lincoln. Paxton says the present average farm wage in this state is 250 per cent higher than in 1914, whereas wheat is only 50 per cent higher, and corn is selling at 70 per cent less than in 1919.
Average farm wages in Nebraska today are 17 per cent lower than in 1919. Paxton says, "The 'hired man' is receiving 46 per cent more than he was paid for the same work in 1913 and 135 per cent more than in 1919."
"At the present price of corn in Nebraska," Paxton concluded, "it takes more of that grain to pay a farm laborer his month's wages today than it would have taken in any other year for the past thirty years."

AUTO MEN GRIEVE TO HEAR NEWS OF HESSE'S ILLNESS

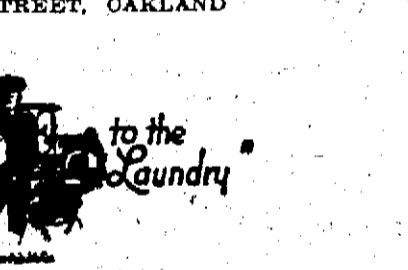

Little Hope Held Out for His Recovery; Hugsen Heads Old-Timers' Club.
By JIM HOULIHAN.
Walter Hesse is dangerous ill and little hope is held out for his recovery. Automobile men and other friends of his in the business world, and Walter has scores of acquaintances, will learn of this fact with extreme sorrow, and there will be many a silent prayer offered for his quick return to health.
He has been ill about ten days, originally from a cold, which later took a serious turn. An operation was required, Wednesday, and on Saturday a second one. Since Saturday Hesse has been in a critical condition.
Up to the time of his sickness he had been in splendid health and appeared robust enough to withstand almost any sickness.
Since leaving the automobile industry he has been connected with the Central National Bank in Oakland. He is also a member of the Civil Service Board.
HEADS OLD TIMERS' CLUB.
William Hugsen's elevation to the office of president of the Old Timers' Club, an organization comprised of men who have been in all lines of the automotive industry more than five years, is getting for him scores of congratulations from members in California who are connected with the Old Timers' Club.
"Billy" got back from the East on Saturday, but information regarding his election to leadership of the trade veterans preceded him westward.
F. Ed Spooner, the Detroit automotive correspondent for THE TRIBUNE, is secretary of the Old Timers' Club.

ALAMEDANS SEE DEFEAT OF PLAN OF DIVISIONISTS

Executive Committee Secretly Declares County Will Be Kept Intact.
ALAMEDA, Feb. 6.—If all the Alamedans who are qualified to vote and who are opposed to county division do their duty and go to the polls tomorrow, Alameda county will remain as it is. This was the statement made today by the executive committee of the Alameda County Anti-County Division League through the secretary, E. C. Soules, who said: "There seems to be no question whatever but that Albany, Emeryville, Piedmont, San Leandro, Hayward and the balance of the county will return a majority of the 3000 against division of the county. With the county at large backing the secession plan and Alameda doing the same thing, any possible Berkeley division will be disposed of effectively and finally."
"Most of the members of the Alameda committee expressed the opinion that they would not be surprised to see county division defeated in both Oakland and Berkeley."
"There is considerable opinion that Berkeley will return a majority against division. It is probably safe to figure that a majority of the University of California ballots will be to hold the county intact."
"It is a big thing for the state university to have a united delegation at Sacramento, for Alameda county's twelve members represent about one-tenth of the total membership of the legislature and this county's delegation has always been solely and strongly for university measures."

Bank Failures Cut Guaranty Funds

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 4.—Suspension of thirty banks in Nebraska in the past two years has drained approximately $4,000,000 from the State Bank Guaranty Fund. As a result the State Department of Trade and Commerce has made a special assessment against the remaining 356 State banks of 1 per cent of their average aggregate deposits.
Under Nebraska law, bankers must make good all deposits of suspended banks immediately. Amendment of this statute will be proposed at the coming extra session of the State legislature by a bill to place part of the burden on taxpayers.
When in doubt Vote NO.

FOR THE LAST TIME, CITIZENS. CONSIDER THESE FACTS!

Citizens, upon facts you should base your decision regarding a proposal that strikes vitally at the public interest in Oakland and Alameda county.

Tomorrow the voters of Oakland, Piedmont and Emeryville are to vote on two propositions. First, that to separate Oakland from the rest of the county; second, shall these three municipalities constitute a separate city and county of Oakland, under the charter proposed and identified on the ballot. In all the remainder of the county citizens will vote on one proposition—shall Oakland, Piedmont and Emeryville be permitted to separate from Alameda county.

Piedmont and Emeryville, by overwhelming majorities, voted against uniting with Oakland at the special election of November 15, 1921, and are included in the project for a separate county against their will and in spite of their most vigorous protests.

This scheme now before the voters came forward from queer motives and by unusual tactics. First appeared in the disguise of a proposition to unite all of Alameda county under one government. Methods of coercion, brow-beating and scandalizing of all the communities except Oakland made the defeat of the first proposition certain from the beginning, which it now develops was the wish of its advocates. At the November election every incorporated city and town in the county with the exception of Oakland voted by majorities of from three to one to fifteen to one against "consolidation." The unincorporated territory was disfranchised.

Then, with amazing lack of logic, those who had urged "consolidation" started out for county division, the separation of Oakland from the rest of Alameda county. In doing this they violated the pledge publicly given prior to the November election that they were not favorable to and would not work for major county division.

WHO IS BEHIND IT?

Because of this trickery the people of Alameda are now faced with the proposal to divide Alameda county and tomorrow must vote for or against.

From the beginning this scheme has been promoted by San Francisco business interests—by the employees of San Francisco businesses in Oakland; by a small clique of Berkeley politicians who have been pursuing for many years the scheme to set up the separate city and county of Berkeley; by certain public utility corporations whose representatives dictated the formulation of the franchise provisions in the new charter under which the proposed city and county will be placed at the complete mercy of franchise grabbers, and by certain bankers and brokers who are heavily involved in the depreciated stocks and bonds of these utility corporations.

To these self-seeking interests have been joined a few well-meaning citizens who had been "sold" on the idea of "consolidation" and who were unable to see through to the real plot of county division. The larger portion of these innocent collaborators in the plot have withdrawn their support since November 15th, and now are vigorously opposed to county division as embodied in the propositions on the ballot.

The whole scheme is tainted, dangerous, destructive and calculated to inflict upon the whole county, and Oakland in particular, irreparable harm, harm beyond description in terms of dollars and cents.

THE TRIBUNE has from time to time described in detail the harmful results that would follow county division. It will touch only briefly upon them here.

SOME CERTAIN RESULTS.

Under the proposed charter the separate city and county of Oakland would be obliged to continue with the exception of two administrative offices costing $110,000 annually—all the present offices and functions of the city government, to assume the entire cost of the existing county offices and functions instead of 63 percent as at present, and the cost of new offices and functions amounting to $330,000 annually. This would mean a minimum increase in the present tax burden of 52 cents on the $100 of property assessment.

The proposed charter would destroy the merit system in government. It would deprive the public employee of the right of appeal against dismissal for political reasons and nullify the classified list. It would turn over the civil service employees to political spoilsmen.

It would confer upon public utilities corporations privileges and advantages, at the expense of the people, never before proposed in any state, county or city in this country.

It would take the control of the public schools away from the people by removing the school board members from the list of elective officers and making them subject to appointment by the mayor.

The council of seven would be elected by wards. This ward system was for nearly a century the favorite and profitable instrument of gang politics and the political hoodlums. Finally the American people, in their righteous indignation, fired by the inspiring teachings of the late Theodore Roosevelt, ended the dismal era and adopted systems which placed the control of government in the hands of all the citizens, the good citizen on an equal footing with the bad citizen. The proposed charter would restore control to the bad citizens. The ward council would name the mayor and this creature of the ward council would name and control the school board.

Division of the county would cause at least three counties to be created in the present area of Alameda county, with three separate county seats. It would turn over to counties other than that in which Oakland would be located over ninety per cent of the territory and over fifty per cent of the harbor front.

THE FUTURE MORTGAGED.

Oakland would be condemned to be a city of less than 15,000 acres of industrial area, and future expansion would be blocked.

Oakland would be placed in precisely the situation which San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle would rejoice to see in it. Its natural right to be the greatest port, the richest and most populous harbor, on the Pacific Coast would be taken away forever.

Do you desire such a fate, do you desire any of these misfortunes to be visited upon you and your city? Do you desire to adopt a charter formulated in its vital features at the dictation and under the domination of utility and other corporate interests—a charter which perhaps you have never read, and which having read you do not understand?

If not, if you are a defender of Oakland and of one of the three greatest counties in the State, vote "NO" tomorrow. In Oakland vote "NO" on both propositions.

A COMPLETED PROGRAM.

The Washington conference on the limitation of armaments adjourned today. It has finished its work. It has performed—and this is an unique instance of the statement being justified—all the tasks it set out to accomplish.

Some will say this is not true, but this will be because they put their own interpretation on the undertakings and aspirations of the conference. It set out to achieve the practical, not the impossible. It aimed at things susceptible to realization.

There will be many critics of the work of the conference. There will be those who want America completely isolated from foreign intercourse, being so blind as to think such possible; those who want France to have instant security against future trouble, and those desiring to see her humbled; those who want the Bolsheviks to be recognized as heading in Russia the most progressive and intelligent government yet known; those who want all agencies of national defense abandoned at once; and those of other obsessions without balance.

But the results and influence of the conference will grow. The work started needs to be conserved and expanded by public support and confidence; by patience, rationality, and co-operation. It is a splendid beginning, a most important trial of the device of international understanding to achieve the thing that is in the hearts of most people. Americans can make it mean immeasurable glory for America.

Mr. Samuel Untermyer, noted New York lawyer, and an orator of no mean ability, took flight the other day and told his audience that certain associations were "festering barnacles on our industrial life that are fairly choking it to death." There is an old example of twisted metaphor that runs thus, "I smell a rat. I see him floating in the air, but mark me, sir, we shall nip him in the bud." Probably Mr. Untermyer would be pained to be charged with the authorship of this, but his reference to a barnacle as festering, or choking anything that did not attempt to swallow it, makes him eligible for a large vote among those who like to assassinate the English language.

European governments are reported to approve in principle the suggestion that they pay their war debts. Very well, let's have the first installment.

We know a man who believes that in years to come the subjects of poetry and music will interest the world as does now the one of girl. There have always been optimists like the man we know, and because of his kind the arts have lived, sometimes ill-nourished, through the centuries. When Homer was twanging on his blooming lyre the topic of the day was bobbed hair and togalengths, but he kept on smiling the strings of fancy and paid no attention to what passed him on the street. There are those who say that Homer, being blind, is to be accorded no praise for his fortitude and his persistence in verse. But we shall believe that Homer, the poet, was more interested in feet than legs.

And when we go stop talking about the girls, what then? Will it be because the girls are no longer worth talking about, or because in our enlarged wisdom we find something of more moment? In our own circle, to which we cling precariously as an unregenerate pedestrian, the subject of clutches, spark-plugs and the like already has first call. The automobile is showing up on the magazine covers, and men turn their heads to watch them pass on the street. The flapper evidences one sees all about, it is possible, represent the war paint and feathers of those girls who represent being outdone by motor cars.

As only fitting with a subject of such vast proportions it should be noted here that the neighbors of Red Toonerville, officially designated as the Alameda District, are still discussing the dastardly action of the crew on the 8 o'clock last month.

On this inauspicious occasion the Red Toonerville altered, its preordained course and dashed to Oakland ahead of the San Francisco vehicle, thus causing all of the neighbors to forego the last piece of toast and the other egg.

If this occurs again the neighbors contend that a round nut will be circulated and forwarded to the London Times forthwith.—W. S.

NOTES and COMMENT

Chicago Tribune on the Spanish-Icelandic embroglio: "The Anti-Saloon league has adopted a resolution deploring the action of Spain in boycotting fish from Iceland, and asking the American government to take advantage of the cordial relations between the United States and Spain and obtain a raising of the embargo. Iceland has adopted prohibition and Spain cannot export wines to it. Therefore the retaliation, barring Icelandic fish. We would sympathize with any people who had economic pressure brought on them to make them drink when they did not want to."

Desert News on Arizona's holidays: "If Arizona observed February 12, Lincoln's birthday, as a public holiday, as do twenty-six of the states of the American Union, our neighbor on the south would have four holidays in the shortest month of the year, for she observes as a holiday February 3, also February 14 (Admission day), in addition to the birthday of the Father of his Country."

The New York Herald tells how art is being utilized in Bohemia: "Greenwich Village bohemians are now painting their Turkish rugs on the floor and painting colored tablecloths on the old kitchen tables to baffle the high cost of living. Successful in deceiving the palate by painting realistic chicken a la King and other Green wich proletarian dishes."

Mexico is not absolutely dry, as the Kansas City Star sizes it up: "Prohibition in Mexico is not, we understand, to be made complete at the start. The government only proposes to prohibit public, which is classed as an intoxicating beverage, and to allow the consumption of non-intoxicating drinks like whisky and wine."

The Kansas City Times holds that Senator Watson is suffering from something else: "The alienists think some of the witnesses heard by the senate committee investigating Senator Watson's charges are suffering from war neurosis. But that doesn't explain what Senator Watson is suffering from."

According to the Chicago News, the Georgia Senator might have made his disclosures more awful: "Senator Watson neglected to mention that frequently the American soldiers in France had to drink coffee that was not made in a percolator."

The Seattle Times aims a shaft: "Secretary Hoover is said to be coming to Los Angeles soon, but perhaps he ought to postpone his visit until the weather settles."

DO YOUR HEALTH

How Much Food Do You Really Need Each Day?
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Consultant of Health,
New York City.

Ordinarily the amount of food required for good health depends on the age, the degree of activity of the individual and the skin area of his body.

Of course, this rule is not absolute. If you have ever observed a lot of horses of about the same size and age you must have noticed that they differ materially in their eating habits. Some are "good keepers," thriving on small rations, while others demand much larger quantities of food.

The most common of human faults is to overeat. When you discover the minimum quantity of food you need, and school yourself to take no more than that amount, you will lessen the wear and tear on the machinery of your body. And so of course, your life will be prolonged by this practice.

The purpose of food is to furnish body heat. This is radiated by the skin and passes off through the surface of the body.

Somebody who was interested has carefully measured the area of the skin surface, both of grown persons and of babies. A person 5 feet 11 inches tall, and weighing 180 pounds, has a skin surface in the neighborhood of twenty square feet. An infant weighing ten pounds, or only one eighteenth as much as the man, has a skin area of about the same square feet, just about one-seventh the skin area of the average man.

You must feed people according to the amount of body surface, and not according to the weight or size. If you fed according to height or weight, the 180-pound man would require eighteen times as much food as the baby. As a matter of fact, he requires only about seven times as much food, because his skin surface is only seven times as big as the baby's.

You see, therefore, why, as you grow older, you require less food proportionately. Your skin surface does not increase in the same ratio that your body does.

Prof. Henry C. Sherman, of Columbia University, has made a table showing the estimated food requirements at different ages. Modified somewhat, it means that at the age from 1 to 2 years there are needed about forty-five calories to the pound of weight. From 2 to 5 years, forty calories. From 5 to 9 years, thirty-five calories. From 9 to 13 years, thirty calories. From 13 to 17 years, twenty-five calories. From 17 to 25 years, twenty calories per pound.

From the age of 20 years there is a gradual decrease in the food requirements. At 20, about 3000 calories per day are needed. At 30, 2750 calories. At 40, 2500 calories. At 50, 2250. At 70, 2000 calories. At 80, 1750 calories are enough.

The degree of activity makes a great difference. Nervous, hard-working persons require more food than quiet and placid individuals, especially if engaged in sedentary occupations. An active, crying baby needs more nourishment than "a quiet baby."

The bigger the child's frame, too, under the general rule, the more food it needs. The more rapid the growth the more food is required.

You will see, therefore, that some members of every family will need much more food than others. Each must supply his own demands and eat according to his own needs.

ALAMEDA W. E. TEAM IS DEFEATED IN FIRST GAME OF 'B' SERIES

"Lefty" Bianchi Is Victor in Mound Duel With Ray Klein; Latter Gets Poor Support.

The Western Electrics romped home with the first win in the championship series for the Class "B" pennant when they trounced the Alameda West End Merchants, pennant winners in the Eastern division, by the tune of 4 to 2. The game was played at the Oakland Coast League park in the morning. The champs of the Western division displayed their old class that enabled them to win the title in their division, and played a better brand of ball than their opponents. Manager "Derby Bill" Brown of the Wescons started his young southpaw, Fred Bianchi, and the big leftlander was fit for the occasion. Fred had a little too much on the pill for the Encinitas lads, holding them to six hits, but three of them good drives. His work after the first inning was wonderful, and no time during the fray did he weaken. Opposed to "Lefty" was Ray Klein, another southpaw, and Alameda's best bet. Ray pitched as good as Bianchi but his playmates failed to back him with the proper support.

The Alamedans made three costly boots behind Klein, a wild throw by Joe Kaney in the second inning, and behind the Emeryville shorts, a

Start Season by Beating U. C. Frosh

The Fremont high baseball team started its season off in a rather successful way by noising out the Cal. Freshmen at West Field by a score of 4 to 3 after ten innings of a thrilling and well-played ball game. The Green and Golds look like the team to beat in the Oakland Athletic league, having a bunch of youngsters who are well versed in the art of the national pastime. Oakland high was pronounced to the tune of 10 to 0 by the Cal. Babes on Friday, so the victory for the Boulevarders is rather a "feather in the cap" for them.

"Curly" Gardner, captain of the Fremonters, was the star of the battle on Saturday against the Frosh, who were led by Kardozza, another TRIBUNE leaguer, twirled a great game for the preppers, holding the Babes to nine scattered hits and being very stingy in the pinches. Pon, a new man around the Fremont campus, caught a fine game and is looked upon as a catcher in the making. Spence was the heavy hitter for the Frosh, landing on Kardozza's shoos for two runs and a double.

The score: R. H. E.
Fremont III ..... 4 7 2
Cal. Frosh ..... 3 9 3

Ten-Round Game in Indianapolis Again

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 5.—Professional boxing in Indianapolis will be resumed tonight after a week's vacation. Jack Higgins of this city, and Harry Krohn of Akron, Ohio, will meet in the future bout, scheduled for the 10th inst. The men will weigh about 175 pounds each.

Mayor Lew Shank, an ardent boxing fan, was responsible for reporting the fight to Indianapolis.

McCormack's Colts Trim Cook's Stars

In a close and exciting game baseball in which the rivalry was intensely keen, McCormack's Colts walked away with a 2-to-1 victory against the Cook County Stars. The winners furnished the fielding features of the fray, while Pierson on the mound for the Colts twirled a great game and allowed the losers three scattered bingles.

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE SMOKEY STOVE.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" cried Nurse Jane, "the smoke is in the chimney. I can't stand it any longer! Something must be done about it!"

"What is the trouble now?" asked Uncle Wiggly. "Does the Fuzzy Fox bob up and ring the door bell, or has the Woolly Wolf been through the mud on your front windows?"

"Neither one, if you please," said the muskrat lady, as she put a new ribbon on the end of her hair. "It's the chimney, Uncle Wiggly. It smokes so much that I can't stay out there to bake a pie. Oh, how my eyes smart from the smoke!"

"How are you going to do that?" asked Nurse Jane. "It is not always, explained Nurse Jane. 'It is only when the wind blows from the East, and it is blowing from the East now.'"

"I'll take a look at that kitchen stove," spoke Uncle Wiggly. "Certainly it is no fun to be baking in your kitchen when you are baking of the smoke. I'll take a look down the chimney."

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

by ANDRE TRIDON

This is the seventh of an extensive course in Psycho-Analysis prepared for popular study by the noted French savant for readers of The Oakland TRIBUNE. The writer will attempt to explain the intricacies of the new mental theory so that all may understand. Andre Tridon is author of "Psycho-analysis, Its History, Theory and Practice," "Psycho-analysis and Behavior," "Psycho-analysis, Sleep and Dreams," etc.

A DREAMLESS sleep seems to be many of us the ideal form of rest. Let me shatter this illusion on the subject. There is no dreamless sleep, except when sleep is induced by drugs. And even then some of the sleeper's past emotions, or other poisons before retiring are not infrequently disturbed by horrible nightmares. They should indeed, for drug-induced slumber is at best a mild form of death.

I constantly meet people who tell me they never dream. Those people are merely unable to remember their dreams. They are people of rather strong repression, who never very willingly "open up" to their friends and associates and who, after going during the sleep over the past emotions, or other poisons before retiring are not infrequently disturbed by horrible nightmares. They should indeed, for drug-induced slumber is at best a mild form of death.

Every one of us is conscious of weird forms and images floating in the darkness when we first fall asleep. Every one of us is also vaguely conscious of something which has just vanished when we first open our eyes in the morning. Those were the beginning and the end of the night's dreams. If you and a friend are interested enough in the subject to spoil several good night's sleep, make the following experiment. Take turns at waking each other up at odd times of the night. Shake the sleeper as energetically as possible and ask him what he is dreaming of. He may not be able to tell you at once, but he will have to confess that some interrupted some dream of his. After a few minutes he may recall some details of it.

After the experiment has been made a number of times your memory of dreams will improve remarkably. Which means that you will lose and regain control over your secrets to outsiders. We all know that if when going to bed we make up our minds to wake up in time for the 5:15 train, we will on almost every occasion open our eyes a few minutes before our alarm clock goes off. We have more control over our unconscious phenomena than we commonly think.

Make a note after night the resolution to remember your dreams and you will be amazed to see how many dreams you will remember. You can train yourself to wake up in order to write down your dreams. As the dreams are infinitely important in psycho-analysis, remembering dreams is one of the first things analysts train their patients to do.

Holdings of a Husband by Adele Garrison

The Demand Lillian Made of Dr. Pettit.

Exhausted by the strain to which her whole nervous system had been subjected, Lillian slept most of the afternoon, slept fitfully, it is true, rousing often to fix her eyes upon Marion's still unconscious face on the cot next hers. But, I think, restfully, for as the hours wore on her voice became stronger, and the terrifying gray look left her face.

That there was yet danger somewhere I knew from the attitude of Miss Jones, the tall, efficient nurse whom Dr. Pettit had left in charge. Not once during the entire afternoon did she leave the room. She sat with her eyes fixed upon Marion, although I saw her gaze straying to Lillian now and then, and I knew that nothing in either patient's condition would escape her. She evidently had me in charge, also, for she insisted upon my eating a light but nourishing luncheon, and later in the afternoon ordered a pot of hot tea for me.

My mind was freed from all anxiety about Junior. For Dr. Pettit, who had accompanied him home, and had returned to the hospital immediately in his own car, which he had left at the Ticer farm—reported him in perfectly satisfactory condition. "He is leading his fond relatives a dance, but they are entirely under waiting on him, so you need not worry in the least about him," he said to me in a low tone on his first visit to the room after his return. But I saw that even as he spoke he kept his eyes upon Marion, and I feared that he was more uneasy about her than his assurance to Lillian signified. And the fear grew upon me as he drew a chair to the side of the child's bed, and while he tended to read, patently for Lillian's assurance when she awakened, kept a watchful vigil over the unconscious child.

What is it you fear? The sun was low when Lillian, upon waking, failed to doze off again, and looked clearly, resolutely at the physician. Dr. Pettit. Her voice was low, scarcely a whisper, but it held the old dominant note, and I knew that her marvelous vitality and will power were functioning again. "Yes, Mrs. Underwood," he rose and went around to the other side of her bed, so that he was looking at her instead of Marion. As he moved, Miss Jones took his place at the child's side, and I realized that there was an unspoken agreement between them, that the little patient should not have a single second unwatched.

I feel quite myself again. Will it not be possible for me to get up? Marion will be sure to ask for me, and I want to be with her. The physician studied her face for an instant without answering, then put his finger upon her pulse. "At the end of a seemingly interminable minute he spoke with a cheerfulness which I never before had seen forced. "You are a marvel, Mrs. Underwood, enough to upset any physician's theories. Yes, you may get up, provided you will be very quiet and I will be most docile. May I ask one question?" Did I fancy that into his usually inscrutable eyes flashed a troubled expression? "Yes, I do not promise to answer it." "I know it is an unreasonable question, but—I cannot help asking it. Have you any idea when—when—when you will be able to tell me?" His deep voice was vibrant with sympathy. "But that is something beyond any human power to ascertain. It may be hours, or—he hesitated perceptibly—he may recover consciousness at any minute."

THE TRUTH. Was there something telepathic in the unconscious I was sure he was concealing. At any rate, Lillian looked at him quickly, spoke sharply. "Dr. Pettit! What is it you fear?" His inscrutable mask was perfectly adjusted in an instant. "I have no reason to fear anything special," he said formally. "But, of course, I cannot guarantee that there are no internal injuries until after she awakens."

WITCHES' PIRATES' STORY DEN

Written by the Kiddies for the Kiddies.

"QUICKSILVER," R. F. D. Box 97A, North Sacramento, Cal. (12 Years.)

AN ADVENTURE OF HELEN AND RUTH.

One afternoon Mrs. Weiss was sitting sewing on her front porch. Her two small daughters, Helen and Ruth Weiss, were sleeping. It was around half-past one.

Little while passed, when little Helen came running out and asking her mother if she could take her younger sister Ruth for a walk. Her mother forbade her to leave the yard.

Mrs. Weiss went out in the kitchen to cook supper. When supper was ready Mrs. Weiss went out and called and called to the children to come in and eat, but there was no answer. She called her husband and they too went to all the neighbors, but they were not found.

They then got the police to find them, but they also failed, so they gave them up as dead. While all this big confusion was going on, Helen and Ruth had toddled off towards the hills where their mother and father had forbidden many times to go, but they wanted to go and they went.

They walked and walked until evening they were so tired they sat down to rest but they were so tired they soon fell asleep. About twelve o'clock that night the children were awakened by voices, and twelve men appeared dressed up as pirates. The children were sitting and Toney, the Pirate Chief, was the fiercest looking man the children had ever seen. He frightened them to death when he said, "Hey, Steve, come here and bind and gag these kids!"

Now Steve was fierce, but not quite as fierce as Toney. So Steve bound and gagged them. They pressed a secret button and a pretty girl appeared, who at once came and cut the ropes and helped their escape. Her name was O'Tilla. She had disappeared over one year ago.

The children were thrown into an old room. In the morning Toney, the Chief came and put them in a cage box and had them carried on the pirate ship. Soon they were ready to sail.

The pirates were out in the middle of the sea when an American ship going from America to Europe, came and saw the pirates. The captain walked the plank, but Toney the chief was a stubborn piece of humanity, so he refused. And an American sailor tried to enter the pirate ship, but he was shot dead. They then ransacked the ship and when the box was uncovered, there was Helen and Ruth. Their mother and father happened to be on the American vessel sailing to Europe to tell their relations of the children's disappearance, and so they finished their tour to Europe and on the same ship that sailed back to America, the Weiss family was on.

Now they lived in the most beautiful part of New York and are the wealthiest people of the state of New York.

"QUICKSILVER," 2132 Roosevelt Ave., Berkeley. A PIRATE POEM. Oh who would not be a pirate bold, A-sailing o'er the sea. A pirate bold with gold untold, A-sailing o'er the sea. So this is my story of pirates bold, Who murder and steal for the want of gold. ALICIA MILLER.

Most of us need to re-read the Fable of the Hare and the Tortoise. We've missed the Big Idea. You will remember how the Hare taunted the Tortoise with his slowness, and the Tortoise challenged the Hare to a race. The Hare, amidst much hilarity from the other race brush dwellers, and how, having started out with a grand burst of jazz, Harry Hare lay down for a bit of a nap, while Tommy Tortoise, plodding along with no slacking, no missing cylinders, won the race.

Which has given rise to the beautiful fable of the Hare and the Tortoise. The Hare, who is the real McCoy as character builders, and that brainy, rapid change are to be treated with suspicion. Which is something Old Aesop intended.

The Tortoise didn't win merely because he was slow and steady, and the Hare didn't lose because he was jazy. The Tortoise won because he had a definite aim for his endeavor, and the Hare lost because he scattered himself. The thing in life is to have an aim for your efforts, whether they be mental, moral or physical.

There's a lesson in telling how far you may go now how swiftly provided you have the aim and stick to it. It will turn a one-idea jay into a Napoleon of finance, and the work of a real hour into one of those things which almost lifts the veil into the Infinite, so mysterious is its power, so far beyond the human.

"The speaker sex"—Isn't that rich, Pals? Here's a tad who'll guarantee to keep his neck and ears clean in return for a loving heart. Who bids? Kidding aside, "Lonesome," that letter does certainly "go over" and I wish it were permissible to send a few dozen of the letters from willing applicants which will doubtless be received by return mail after this is published. Honestly, there are scores of nice girls in the world who are just as anxious to be a true chum as you are. But who's going to bring them together, Dear Jerry?

Here I go, Jerry, taking up a lot of your valuable time with some of my observations and a few foolish questions. I got a letter from a girl who said she was a nurse and she was always looking for more. I have always been 30 and 10, with 90 per cent in favor of the wife or sweetheart. Yet, here as I said before, I am all by myself. Tell me, Jerry, how should I treat them to make them stick to me? Where shall I look to find one different from the rest? If kindness and love won't work, I'll use a club? I am just 23 years of age, shall I look for a widow with half a dozen kids. Please, oh, please, Jerry, old pal, tell me what I am to do.

Brain Tests by Sam Loyd. 5 Minutes to Answer This. Each of the sentences contains the name of one of Lincoln's generals: "Give me a detachment and I will capture the fort," he said. The gallant brig ran terrible risk in crossing the river. I was so tired I danced all evening in affected light heartedness. With improvised tackle the soldiers managed to hook errant fish in small numbers. To imbue Llewellyn with courage they gave him a square meal. John Rosecrans somewhere to hide when the bullets whistled. Hidden behind a hedge, a deep bed of hedges were found by famished soldiers.

"Brown Eyes" told us of the married man who loved her and whose love she would so gladly had if things had been different. But there was a wife at home. So Jerry said "Bully for Brown Eyes." Then came "Female Soldier," breathing fire against all "affinities" and lumping them all in the same cage as though they were all equally objectionable brands of folly. And now "Brown Eyes" is answering back and I'm for her stronger than ever. She did a heroic thing, Pals, and I don't think it reflects any particular credit upon the Wives' Union to belittle her. Dear Jerry?

Brown Eyes wants permission to use a machine gun, so she too can go over the top. Do I set it? All right. Thanks. Here goes. (No. 1.) Who said you were for "REASONS" FOR DIVORCE. A woman brought suit for divorce against her husband the other day. She said she really couldn't stand it another minute. And she'd lived with him for twenty years, too. He's a deep-sea diver, and evidently he loses the silence of the muddy water, for he kept in the corner of the kitchen of his home, or what he called his home, a pall of cold wet water.

And he told his wife that if she ever opened her mouth while he was in the house, she would know how that water felt. The other day she did open her mouth. She said a few words about the weather and the price of pork or something equally thrilling, and—splash!—he threw the pall of water over her, and she had on a nice, clean dress, too, and was just getting ready to go out.

So she sued him for divorce. I don't blame her, do you? But mark the difference in human beings! On the same day that this divorce suit was filed, and in the same court, a man filed a suit against his wife. He said he couldn't stand her another day. No—she wasn't extravagant. No—she wasn't a scold. No—she didn't nag.

Which was perfectly faithful. But she had a new religion, and every once in a while she "went into the silence" and wouldn't speak when she was spoken to. And that, this man could not and would not endure.

WHAT FUNNY EXCUSES! Which are you sorrier for—the pall-of-water wife or the into-the-silence husband? Wouldn't it be fine if they could only meet and make a match between them?

The pall-of-water husband might find the into-the-silence wife the ideal of his dreams—a silent woman absorbed in contemplation. The into-the-silence wife could chat cheerfully and unconcernedly night and day, and make of life one grand, sweet dream—of conversation.

What funny excuses people give when they want to get rid of each other. Now, if the man was really in love with his into-the-silence wife, he'd think how sweet she was to go "into the silence"—how calm, how restful, how spiritual and how lifted above all the petty annoyances of life. He'd brag about it at the office, and tell his friends what a treat it was to have the good sense of a wife who he'd had the good sense to pick.

I know a man who fell in love with his wife because she had dimples. Oh, how he loved her dimples—and how he adored her way of constant smiling—to show the dimples. He's suing for divorce now. No, he hasn't given a reason for it. A reason, nor the smile either. He says she's extravagant and light-minded and selfish, and not temperamentally fitted to make him happy. But what he really hates about her is the dimples. He says she's smiled them so much—only he's met a girl with soulful, mysterious eyes—the sort who leans on the table with her cheek in her hand, and wonders how such a great, big, strong, silent man like him could be so much like the little silly vanities of a woman.

Chin-in-Hand doesn't smile—she sighs. A DULL WORLD IF—You see, her dimples aren't her strong point—it's the eye she likes to accentuate. And over since Husband has heard how big and strong and intelligent he is, he simply must bear dimples. He's a man of mind. She never told him anything like that in her life, and when he tried to hint about it to her, she laughed and made her dimples deeper than ever. I know a woman who can't bear her husband—she says he's so stupid, always too tired to go anywhere, and never telling her any news about the office or anything. I haven't found who the man is who is never too tired, and who always tells her the news. I expect to, some day. I wonder what his own wife is thinking about him this very minute.

What a dull world it would be, if we were all alike—wouldn't it?

There Spake True Friendship.

To a prosperous cloak and suit merchant on the lower East Side came an acquaintance of many years' standing. The newcomer had made a failure of it as a pushcart huckster, and then as a dealer in cast-off garments. But he was undismayed and his ambition still soared. It seemed that now he aspired to open a regular store—on borrowed capital.

"But I don't want I should ask my friends for the money," he explained. "Never would I do that. So this morning I go by that bank over yonder on the other side of the street and I talk with the bank president, a fellow named Howard, about it. But what should I know about banks? Nothing, that's what. He says to me I should make him a note with indorsements, and then he slips me the mazuma. I asks him what is a note, and what is this here indorsement? So he asks me who do I know in this neighborhood what has plenty money, and I says to him that I know you—that we came over together, greeners, on the same ship from Poland eighteen years ago. And then he fixes up this here piece of paper, and he says to me I should bring it over here and get you to sign your name on the back of it, and then I should bring it back to him and he would right away give me the two thousand dollars. So, here I am, Goldberg."

Mr. Goldberg's voice was husky with emotion as he answered:

"Moe," he said, "honestly for you I am positively ashamed that you should do this thing. Ain't always we been friends both in the old country and over here? Ain't always I loved you like a brother? And now when you need some money do you come to me and ask me for it, man to man? No, you go to a guy like that Howard. Oy! Oy! for you I hang my head that you should do so!"

"Listen: I am the one which is going to help you, and not some feller in a bank. You get that Howard to sign his name on the back of this paper and then I give you the money!"

THE BAT NAMED SEBASTIAN

Once upon a time, dear children, there was a darling little family of bats. There was Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Bat and their little son, Sebastian. (Johnny, get off the piano.)

Sebastian was Mr. and Mrs. Bat's only child and you may be assured that they were very careful to raise him as a young bat should be raised. His mother was particularly proud of Sebastian and solicitous for his spiritual as well as temporal welfare.

"Sebastian, my little bat," she would say, her voice throbbing with parental pride, "remember you must be a credit to the Bat family. You must be a Bat of whom any mother may well be proud. Gaze upon your father. There is a model for you." At these words Bruno Bat would swell out his chest and flap his wings proudly. "Be a Bat like your father," continued Sebastian's mother, "and when you are grown to bathood, you will be your father's pride and your mother's joy."

And then Sebastian would say, "Ma, them sentiments is all right, but gosh, a bat's only young once. Why can't I go out for a good time like the other little bats?"

And then Sebastian's mother would say, "Do all your batting around at night; that is all right, but don't stay out days. You will fall in with bad companions and they will be your ruin and downfall." But Sebastian always turned away and went off talking to himself. (Dorothy, will you tell the baby to stop cranking Daddy's car outside. He's weakening the mixture.)

One morning Sebastian did not mind his mother, and when daylight came he sneaked out of the house. He was surprised to see how wild and wicked the world looked in the daylight. It thrilled him to think that now he was going out on a big adventure. But alas, he fell in with a gang of wicked city sparrows who took him out robbing pigeon lofts and stealing food in the alleys. This was the first step in Sebastian Bat's downfall. He gradually went from bad to worse. Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Bat were broken hearted.

But one day into Sebastian's wicked life beautiful Elsie Hoot Owl came. I'll tell you about this some other time if you remind me. Gwan-to-bed.

Fruit Has Bitter Taste to Offset "Bargain Prices;"
Meat Is Firmer.

Despite the efforts of the large citrus fruit interests, frost bitten oranges are finding their way to the market. Stuff from the Redlands district which was peddled today by one house at 33 a box against the regular price of 40 cents, was not of the best. It returned an "unsatisfactory." The fruit looked good, the color was true and the taste was good, but it was not from frost visible to the eye. It was when taste was invoked that a bitter note was revealed that the fruit was "soft." The same thing is true throughout the northern part of the state tell of the efforts of peddlers to get a little of the frost bitten fruit at "bargain prices" to housewives. The state authorities are preparing to take action to stop the practice.

There was a stiffening of meat prices here and there in the past few days. The hoggers and the stockmen have for some time been predicting higher prices for stock of all kinds. A quarter fresh beef got up from a quarter to half a cent on the local wholesale market while Chicago advanced a cent. There were no general advances as the demand quickened.

The pork raisers in the country say the market is better. At the recent auction sales through Fitts Cans. at Durham Saturday three carcasses were sold in this manner:

One	weighing 39	lbs.	averaging 15.5	cents
One	weighing 39	lbs.	averaging 15.5	cents
One	weighing 39	lbs.	averaging 15.5	cents

The top carcass was sold to the Kappel Bros., who completed their charcoal shipment with 25 heavier hogs which sold for $9.05. Two carcasses were sold to the Kappel Bros. company, one of top hogs averaging 17 1/2 pounds at $10 per hundred and the second averaging 16 1/2 pounds at $8.50.

Local sweet potato interests declare that there are about twenty carloads of "sweets" remaining to be shipped out of Turlock district. They expect importations from the East to amount to approximately thirty cars, about the same number that sold here.

The apple market continues active with prices tending to rise a trifle in some grades. The storage stocks are being rapidly depleted and the northern supplies are reported being heavily drawn on from the Chicago market, especially in the Eastern Washington region.

Appraisals today included 11 cars of spuds, 3 cars of apples, 1 car of lettuce and one car of spinach.

PASTORS IN
PLEA FOR MEN
WITHOUT JOBSCitizens' Relief Committee
Planning Benefits for 1500
Unemployed Here.

A concerted appeal for relief to the unemployed was made yesterday by the pastors of eighty-five Protestant churches as a part of the program for "Unemployment Sunday."

Meanwhile the citizens' emergency employment committee is working in the sale of tickets for two events: a charity ball to be held at the Claremont hotel on February 10, and a theatrical benefit performance at the Auditorium on February 12.

The proceeds of these two affairs, together with the contributions from churches and various private donations, will be turned over to John Davidson, treasurer of the committee, to be dispensed among the needy among the various organized churches.

According to a report sent out by the Citizens' Relief Committee, a conference on unemployment was held at the Claremont hotel on February 4, at which time the committee members discussed the situation and the need for relief.

The report looks for relief for the unemployed in the spring.

"Buffalo has not asked $70,000 for relief and necessities for the relief of 1115 families," the report states. "Detroit is lending out of emergency funds $1,750,000 to applicants for relief, some of whom receive $100,000, and some $500,000."

"Kansas City has raised $250,000 for a charity drive and Boise has raised a municipal fund where the unemployed are not as high as the scale of the unemployed."

"St. Paul, under an emergency plan, is authorized to use $100,000 for relief of the unemployed, and is authorized to use $100,000 for relief of the unemployed, and is authorized to use $100,000 for relief of the unemployed."

LUMBER YARD IN BERKELEY STARTS
FIGHT IN COURT

Fred Foss Is Center of Action
Involving Complaint Filed
Before Judge Edgar.

BERKELEY, Feb. 6.—Clashing that County Treasurer Fred Foss is maintaining a lumber yard at Center and Milvia streets in violation of Berkeley's comprehensive zone ordinance, a complaint against the F. W. Foss Company, of which Foss is head, was filed this morning before Judge Robert Edgar.

The complaint, which places a misdemeanor charge against Foss, was sworn to by Louis Blint, a neighbor, in behalf of other residents of the district, who declare that a lumber yard, in direct view of Berkeley's city hall, is not only an "eyesore," but a violation of the zone law as well.

Foss charges that the company, of which he is head, was incorporated in the lumber business before Berkeley's zone was drafted, and under the law, he says, he is allowed to continue business.

Neighbors say that a wood and coal business has been done for years by Foss, to which they voice no complaint, but charge that recently Foss has again branched out into the sale of new and old lumber.

The Foss property was the subject of another legal fight instituted some years back by residents of the affected district. Petitions asking the Council and City Planning Commission to rule against the lumber yard and to take steps to eliminate it from the center of town were filed with the Council some weeks ago.

While city officials have declared that the district in which the Foss property is located is not one set aside for lumber yards and have expressed sentiments against having such an industry there, they are helpless to act, according to their statements to property-owners. This morning's complaint has come as a result of conferences with city officials.

February 16 has been set as the date for hearing the complaint.

S. F. PROPOSAL TO FINANCE HOSPITAL
WING APPROVED

Formal Endorsement of Both
Counties Believed Essential to Deal.

Tentative approval was given San Francisco's proposal to finance an addition to the Arroyo Sanatorium to be used partially for tuberculosis patients of San Francisco county, at a meeting early today of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

Before the project can become effective, it will be necessary to secure the formal endorsement of both counties.

The plan which was submitted by San Francisco in order that the tuberculosis patients of that county who can not be accommodated at hospital there, may receive treatment, provides for the construction of an addition to the Alameda county institution, costing $100,000. This will be financed by San Francisco, and the addition will accommodate 50 patients.

Fifty of these patients will be sent over here from San Francisco, leaving Alameda county ten beds, and a fee of $2.37 per day will be paid Alameda county by San Francisco for each inmate. The plan provides for a twenty-five year contract, at the termination of which, Alameda county may purchase the addition at the $100,000 minus a depreciation on the building of 4 per cent a year.

At today's meeting the supervisors declared that they were in favor of the project. San Francisco has already signified its willingness to undertake the plan. The remainder of the meeting was taken up with routine matters, including the presentation of resolutions and the receiving of bills.

Romance Born on
Rings of Trapeze
Hits Sawdust Here

A romance that waxed and then waned while circus audiences shivered and applauded at the daredevil feats in mid-air of "La Rose and La Rose" came to an end today when Aline Kelsey, one of the star trapeze performers of Franklin Brothers' circus, filed suit for divorce against her husband and co-star, Albert E. Kelsey.

That he refused to divide their joint earnings as the leading aerial trapeze team of the circus is Mrs. Kelsey's principal charge against her husband. She says that of the large amount that she earned in the dangerous work of swinging from one unstable perch to another fifty feet above ground, her husband and teammate did not allow her enough money to support herself.

She also charges that he frequently beat her with his fists. The love affair between the couple that culminated in their marriage in Alameda January 19 of last year, began when the two, already star trapeze performers, joined forces as "La Rose and La Rose," and literally placed their lives in one another's hands far above the heads of circus audiences.

It was in mid-air that they carried on the greater part of their courtship, and it was also in mid-air that they later carried on many of their family quarrels over financial matters that resulted in today's divorce proceedings. They separated, both as teammates and as matrimonial partners, January 4 of this year.

Mrs. Kelsey is now living with friends in Alameda. There are no children.

Money, Jewelry
Stolen in Alameda

ALAMEDA, Feb. 6.—Several burglaries committed yesterday and last night are giving the police cause for worry today. E. Niemier, 1610 Bay street, reported that some one had entered his home yesterday afternoon and had stolen jewelry valued at about $150.

E. Allen, 1519 Walnut street, reported that his home had been entered last night and rings and a watch valued at $60 taken.

Mrs. Emma Graf, 835 Taylor avenue, saw a man climbing the rear stairs of the home of her sister, Mrs. L. M. Rizau, 833 Taylor avenue. She shouted at him and the man ran away.

British Cruiser Is

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Feb. 6.—The British cruiser Raleigh, flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir William Pakenham, commanding the British West Indian squadron, stood into port early today, her guns roaring a 21-gun salute to the United States, followed by a 17-gun salute to the commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

The cruiser Calcutta, of the same squadron, arrived yesterday from the West Indies. A total of 84 guns were fired during the ceremony for the purchase of trucks and other equipment.

FIVE NAMED TO STUDY BERKELEY
GARBAGE PLANS

Investigation Is Ordered by Mayor Bartlett to Determine
Expense to City.

BERKELEY, Feb. 6.—The latest development in Berkeley's garbage fight was the appointment today of six verification deputies to circulate petitions against the municipal garbage collection plan. There are two distinct petitions. One is an initiative petition and is aimed at the city ordinance which creates the position of sanitary engineer. The office is now held by Charles C. Newirth. This petition was framed by James H. Todd and was presented today.

The other petition is in the form of a referendum and is aimed against the ordinance authorizing the expenditure of $400 to create a sanitary unit at the end of the municipal wharf for the dumping of garbage. It was prepared by George Golder, former assemblyman of Berkeley.

The six deputies appointed today are: Mrs. Augusta Weidinger, 1048 Tenth street; Mrs. Catherine Burt, 238 Bancroft way; Mrs. Hattie Gent, 321 Bancroft way; Mrs. Hannah Dowd, 2219 Eighth street; William H. Shawsby, 2246 San Pablo avenue; and Joseph P. Chase, 1818 Fourth street.

A total of 2000 names will be necessary to put the petitions on the ballot.

BERKELEY, Feb. 6.—A new investigation into Berkeley's garbage collection system will be inaugurated shortly as a result of the appointment of a committee of five announced by Mayor Louis Bartlett to "make a study" of the municipal venture.

Named on the committee are H. I. Gastman, chairman of the garbage investigation committee of the Affiliated Berkeley Clubs; Charles Hadlen, West Berkeley merchant; Lewis J. Hicks, engineer; W. C. Moran, realty dealer of South Berkeley; and Melf J. Schween, merchant.

In asking the committee to begin work the mayor cites from the report of Auditor Elmer Bell that expenditures in the garbage department from August 1 to December 3, 1921, totaled $55,800, with proposed expenditures to June 30, 1922, of $50,000, making a total of $105,800.

Against this outlay of money the mayor shows total receipts to January 31, 1922, of $31,315, with estimated receipts to June 30, 1922, of $45,000.

That the city's garbage venture has thus far cost the sum of approximately $25,000 for equipment is revealed by the mayor's figure. Councilman Charles D. Heywood, commissioner of public health and safety, declared that the expense of the garbage department are not more than being met by the collections made and declared that the only actual outlay of money has been for the purchase of trucks and other equipment.
